Witnesses Tell Recollections Of Murder Of 1906

Little Headway Made In Rocco Esposito Trial During Morning

MANY HANDICAPS TO GET TESTIMONY

Arguments On Admissability Of Ancient Evidence Are Quite Frequent

Little headway had been made at noon today in the trial of Rocco Esposito for the murder of Francesco Romeo, in October, 1906, now under way in court room number two. Frequent objections to commonwealth testimony, arguments as to the admissability of evidence, and lengthy examination of the witness heard thus far have delayed the case.

At noon today the commonwealth had called witnesses who had transcribed notes of the trial of Dominick Caio in 1906 for the same crime, had established the fact that A. D. Mornes was court stenographer at the time, and had heard testimony from witnesses who were in the vicinity of the alleged crime at New Castle Junction. At the noon recess Dr. L. W. Wilson had been recalled to testify as to the treatment of Francesco Romeo after his admission to the Shenango Valley hospital.

Call Clifford James

The first witness called was Clifford James, janitor of the court house. He testified to the search for the records of the trial of Dominick Caio and to the finding of the shorthand notes of the case, made by the late A. D. Mornes. Attorney E. F. G. Harper testified that Mr. Mornes was the official court stenographer in October, 1906, and later his son Arthur Mornes now of Sharon, identified the long hand writing on the outside of the Caio notes as that of his father.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Jack McCombs, 219 West Sheridan avenue, while recuperating from an illness at his residence, reports having seen a robust Robin-red-brest, flying about the back yard, Monday, from his bedroom window.

Motorists are discovering that 20 degrees abov zero will freeze a radiator just as easily at the end of winter, as at the beginning. Several steaming radiators were noted on the streets of the city today as a result of freezing conditions.

May not seem important now, but why not a little consideration of establishment of some kind of a public bathing beach along the Neshannock this summer. Seems like it would be a good WPA project. It will not be long until the hot summer days are with us once again.

Additional water must have been released from the Pymatuning dam during the past few days. This morning, the Shenango river had risen almost a foot and a half over yesterday's stage, and with freezing weather gripping the district, only an additional release of water from the dam would account for it.

Weather conditions during the past three days have been peculiar. The temperature has been almost constant during that ime. Ranging from 23 degrees to 35 degrees. It was a single point lower yesterday than on the two preceding days.

Steel Pay Raises Are Now Effective

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—A golden stream of pay raises estimated at from $120,000,000 to $150,000,000 a year today began pouring into the pockets of the nation's 500,000 or more steel workers.

As the pay raises became effective today, the industry looked forward to boom-time operations, its backlogs bulging with orders and the dark clouds of labor strife suddenly transformed into rainbows.

Developments of the past few weeks marked an epoch in steel. As Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, the nation's largest producing company, recognized John L. Lewis's steel workers organizing committee and granted it a collective bargaining contract, most of the other steel companies vied with each other in granting pay raises. Other U. S. Steel corporation subsidiaries are soon expected to follow the lead of Carnegie-Illinois in granting contracts to the SWOC.

In addition, the 40-hour week and pay of time and a half for overtime have now been established. Leaders in the industry have agreed to work their men 48 hours a week and pay them overtime rather than hire a great number of new and untrained workers and force the regular men to suffer a slight loss of earning power under the shorter work week.

Pay raises have begun for the thousands of "white collar" workers, also. And vacations with pay, instituted last year, are here to stay, from all indications.

The wage boost has been passed along to the consumer in the form of increased prices of $3 to $8 a ton. Steel now being in the midst of what is termed a "sellers market," the price boost was accepted readily by purchasers.

Four Of Detroit Hotels Are Closed As Strike Result

TIEUP STARTS AT STATLER LAST NIGHT

Auto Strike Situation In City Shows Little Change This Morning

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, March 16.—Four of Detroit's leading hotels, housing 2,500 guests, were closed today as the strike crisis swept from the Chrysler and Hudson automobile factories across the heart of the downtown district.

The Book-Cadillac, Detroit-Leland and Fort Shelby hotels were voluntarily closed by the management after negotiations with union leaders were abruptly broken off at 4:30 o'clock this morning. The Statler, where a "sit-down" was staged last evening, was being held by strikers.

All policemen in the city were put on 12-hour shifts. There was some joking about the hotel tie-up, which greatly inconvenienced the traveling public, but underneath there was a tension that gave the authorities no little concern.

Governor En Route

Governor Frank Murphy was rushing here from Lansing to cope with the situation. Mayor Frank Couzens of Detroit, son of the late U. S. Senator James Couzens, talked with the governor over the long distance telephone concerning the hotel shutdowns.

Paul Mantz, Miss Earhart's technical adviser, who will fly as far as Honolulu, awaited a telephone call in Los Angeles to learn whether he should return here today or tomorrow.

Large Increase In Income Tax Returns Shown

HUGE AMOUNT IS PAID FOR QUARTER

Government Authorities Believe Estimates On Payments Will Be Exceeded

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Treasury tax-harvesters reaped a bumper crop of revenue today as the 63 federal collection districts reported more than 6,000,000 individuals and corporations had filed 1936 income returns up to midnight.

While awaiting tabulations by its regional agencies the Internal Revenue Bureau predicted unofficially this month's collections may exceed the $840,000,000 estimated recently.

Shortly before the midnight deadline several internal revenue offices telegraphed urgent appeals for additional tax blanks. Some collection districts announced the number of returns filed in their areas was nearly double that of a year ago.

Believe Estimates To Be Exceeded

Treasury officials were confident the first quarter yield from income taxes would surpass estimates contained in President Roosevelt's budget message. The latter forecast income levies would produce $2,372,000,000 during the current fiscal

Drive For Amendment On Court Gains Headway

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 16.—An undercover drive to substitute a constitutional amendment for President Roosevelt's bill, injecting "new blood" into the supreme court, gained headway today in both House and Senate.

The move was started in an effort to compromise the court issue and drew considerable private support from members who have been noncommittal so far on the President's proposed reform. It was made over the opposition of administration leaders, who demand enactment of the President's program even if one or more constitutional amendments are submitted to the people.

This development came as the administration summoned William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Justin Miller, president of the Federal Bar association, and a former assistant to the attorney general as witnesses at the Senate judiciary hearings on the court plan. Both favor the President's program.

The compromise move revolved largely around a proposed amendment to require the concurrence of two-thirds majority of the supreme court to hold any act of Congress or a state legislature unconstitutional. This would mean a 6 to 3 majority of the present court.

This proposed amendment was offered in the Senate by Senator O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming, a staunch administrationist who is noncommittal on the President's plan. In the House it was supported by Rep. Thom (D) of Ohio, who is conducting a poll to determine how many representatives will vote for it.

Question Cable And Woman In Canton Crime

Husband Of Slain Woman Is Grilled By Police In Ohio City

AKRON DIVORCEE ALSO INVESTIGATED

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., March 16.—Questioning of Dueber S. Cable and Miss Theresa Ludwig, 45-year-old divorcee, continued today after the two were brought together in a dramatic meeting as police and county prosecutor A. C. L. Bartholemeh pressed their investigation of the mysterious shotgun death of Cable's wife, Rose, 46, last Thursday.

Cable, who is said to be suffering a heart ailment, was allowed to leave the police station for a short time after the meeting, engineered by the prosecutor and Detective Captain Elmer E. Clark.

Maintained Apartment

Police say Cable maintained Miss Ludwig's Akron apartment and financed a dress shop she operated. The apartment is in a fashionable section of Akron.

Previous to the meeting, the two had been grilled separately for hours, and the separate questioning was resumed after the double quiz.

Police investigated the reports of two girls that an automobile had been seen cruising slowly in the vicinity of the Cable home shortly be-

Plan Third Raid For State Relief

Motor License Funds To Be Tapped For April Relief Needs

PROGRAM FOR YEAR NOT YET FRAMED

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 16.—Still without an acceptable long-range relief program, the administration moved today to make the third "raid" of the year on motor license funds to care for the commonwealth's needy.

While Gov. George H. Earle temporarily withheld his final decision on the adminitsration's attitude toward the two-century old poor board system, and as the Thompson joint legislative committee on relief hurried to complete its report by next week, the legislature planned speedy enactment of a $5,659,000 appropriation measure for April's relief requirements.

With the introduction of the $5,659,000 appropriation, largest thus far for that purpose since the 132nd legislature got under way, it appeared likely that Governor Earle's $19,000,000 budget estimate for relief until the end of the biennium will be thrown out of kelter.

The appropriation runs the total anticipated expenditures up to $15,759,000 as of April 31 and is attributed to the transfer of 22,000 men from WPA to direct relief rolls. The February appropriation was $4,800,000 and that for March was $5,659,000. Both were made available through the tapping of the motor fund.

The administration pinned its hopes that the April appropriation will be adequate on the possibility there will be a seasonal upturn in business and no further WPA retrenchment.

Rebel Air Bombers In Raid On Madrid

Erie Shooting Story Changed

Woman Held For Murder Contends That Shooting Of Man Was Accidental

NOW BEING HELD WITHOUT BAIL

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., March 16.—Formally charged with murder, Mrs. Elizabeth Sample, 45, today changed her story and declared the shooting of J. E. Hogan, 45, a Townsend club organizer, was "all an accident".

Hogan died in a hospital of bullet wounds suffered when Mrs. Sample unexpectedly returned from Cleveland and found him with Mrs. Lucille Irwin, 42, in the midst of a champagne dinner.

The murder charge was lodged before Alderman Thomas Conyngham by Chief of Police George J. Christoph and Mrs. Sample was held without bail. At first, Christoph said, she explained she had fired only to "scare" Hogan.

Police said Hogan ordered the woman to leave when she entered his apartment but instead she went to the bathroom, fired two shots into the wall, fired two more at Hogan when he approached her, and fired a fifth at Mrs. Irwin, the bullet being deflected by Hogan's falling body.

Sanute Jury Still Debating Upon Verdict

Enter Court This Morning To Have Part Of Testimony Re-read

TOOK CASE LATE MONDAY AFTERNOON

Loud Voices In Jury Room Indicate Strong Disagreement Among Jurors

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SOMERSET Pa., March 16.—After hours of debate, some of it violent, the jury of nine men and three women studying the fate of State Trooper Anthony Sanute, charged with participation in the alleged "third degree" killing of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotelkeeper, failed to reach a verdict by early afternoon today.

Indicating the jury was still far apart, the foreman, J. B. Ober, of Hooversville, asked that sandwiches and coffee be brought into the jury room between noon and 12:30 p. m.

Jury Asks For Testimony

Shortly after 10 o'clock the jury came into the courtroom and had reread portions of the testimony dealing with the whereabouts of Sanute at the time Monaghan died while being questioned.

The jury apparently was weighing Sanute's assertions he was out of the room when Monaghan died.

Loud voices within the jury room, loud enough to be heard in the next courtroom, indicated violent disagreement among the jurors.

After a trial marked by bitter and acrimonious disputes between Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey, specially presiding, and Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, special prosecutor, the case

Bandits Rob Bank In Ohio; Secure $5,000

Kidnap Two Employes Of Bank But Later Liberate Them

(International News Service)

BOWLING GREEN, O., March 16—Two bandits today robbed the Citizen's Savings bank at Weston, kidnaping two employes whom they released a short time later and escaping with approximately $5,000.

After the bandits scooped up cash in the vault and in the cage, they forced Burton Deweese, 32, cashier, and Wayne Ewing, also 32, assistant cashier, to accompany them to their black coupe, parked outside the bank.

While one bandit took over the wheel, his companion levelled a gun at Deweese and Ewing directing them to stand on the running board.

Two blocks down the street the bandits car slowed down and Deweese and Ewing were released.

LEGAL TANGLES MARK TRIAL

Start Taking Of Testimony

Defense Opposes Use Of Notes To Refresh Memory Of Witness

DR. LOYAL WILSON FIRST WITNESS

Taking of testimony started Monday afternoon in the case against Rocco Esposito and with it started some legal tangles that will probably recur from time to time during the case. Esposito is on trial in court room number two for the murder of Francesco Romeo on October 7, 1906.

Dr. Loyal W. Wilson, who was called to attend Romeo at the time of the shooting was the first witness called. Because of the long time elapsed since the incident the details were refreshed in the mind of Dr. Wilson by a transcript of testimony he gave at the trial of Dominick Caio in December, 1906.

Objects To Procedure

To this Attorney Frank Moretti objected vigorously, arguing that the notes used for the purpose had not been identified, that they were too remote to be admissible, and that all of the testimony of Dr. Wilson should be stricken out.

The jury was retired to the jury room while the argument over the admissibility of Dr. Wilson's testimony was on and after an hour and a half Judge Braham said he would hold his ruling in abeyance until further examination could be made of the testimony and its source.

The transcribed notes were from the original short hand notes of the late A. Darley Mornes, formerly court stenographer. Because the Caio case resulted in an acquittal they were never transcribed by him. They were transcribed recently by some teachers of short hand in New Castle. The position of the defense is that no two stenographers use the identical system of characters and that therefore the transcribed notes are valueless. The district attorney holds that it is proper to refresh a witness' mind with notes regardless of their accuracy for the reason that the mention of dates and incidents, recalls to the mind of the witness the part he had in the case.

Call Dr. McKinley

Dr. A. S. McKinley, now of Monaca, but in October 1906, an interne in the Shenango Valley hospital was called. He said he could remember nothing of the case from memory except that an injured man had been brought into the hospital in October 1906 and that Mrs. Mary Conti had been brought in as an interpreter. Beyond that Dr. McKinley did not testify.

The opening of the district attorney brought a motion for a mistrial from the defense. In his opening statement to the jury Mr. Ailey said that Rocco Esposito had been a spy in Canada for mining companies.

"I move for the withdrawal of a juror and a mis-trial" said Attorney Moretti. "The statement is prejudicial and so far as we know not a part of the case." The motion was refused and an exception sealed.

Before adjournment Monday afternoon J. Lee McFate, county detective in 1906 was called. He identified a number of letters he had received concerning the whereabouts of Rocco Esposito at that time but said he did not know who had sent them.

From the indications the main battle in the case will be over the admissibility of evidence. Most of the commonwealth case seems to be in writing and if these writings cannot be introduced, they will have little actual testimony to offer.

REBEL AIR BOMBERS IN RAID ON MADRID

slowed down by mud after recent heavy rains.

Insurgents, the message claimed, have strengthened their Villa-Neuva defenses with artillery detachments, Moorish troops and "three German battalions."

Plan Decisive Attack

Governments commanders said the rebels planned to launch a decisive attack as soon as contact is made with loyalist troops.

Rebel planes bombed Andujar this morning, killing six persons.

Official channels in Madrid disclosed that 59 more Italian prisoners have been captured in fighting on the Guadalajara front and that new documents "throwing further light on activities of the Italian army in Spain" have been obtained.

Rebel reconnaissance planes flew over the Guadalajara front, opening up the way for insurgent bombers, which made loyalist communication lines their special targets.

Reports from the Asturias region indicated fighting at Oviedo was limited to artillery fire in consequence of extremely cold weather. Loyalist guns were reported to have shelled the Laca Dellada psychitric hospital and the Pelayo and Rubin barracks.

ond and third floors of the old mill building. The WPA will pay rent of $150 per month from April 1, 1937 to June 30, 1937 and from month to month thereafter.

LARGE INCREASE IN INCOME TAX RETURNS SHOWN

year, or nearly $1,000,000,000 more than was derived from this source in the previous fiscal period.

The administration is counting on the newly-enacted corporate surplus tax act and vastly improved economic conditions to fill government vaults with much-needed revenue.

The deluge of income payments this month will enable the Treasury to pay off in cash $300,000,000 of maturing short-term obligations in addition to building up its cash which has shrunk to approximately $900,000,000 in recent weeks.

Better Situation

Heavy income tax yields, coupled with healthy rises in other sources of federal revenue, will enable the Treasury to operate on a balanced budget basis for the remainder of the fiscal year, until June 30. This marks the first time during the administration that receipts will exceed expenditures for any extended period. For the fiscal year as a whole, however, the Treasury will register a deficit.

Meanwhile the federal reserve board hinted a general tax increase may be necessary to provide for relief and a permanently balanced budget. Board Chairman Marriner S. Eccles expressed vigorous opposition to reducing government relief costs "at the expense of the destitute and unemployed".

"I am in favor of increasing taxes on incomes and profits if necessary to sustain the volume of relief and at the same time bring the budget into balance and permit the paying down of public debt," Eccles asserted.

Eccles reiterated his support of an "easy money" policy.

"Money must be used as the servant to increase production and employment at home," he added. "To restrict the available supply of capital at this time would not only be anti-social but uneconomic."

SANUTE JURY STILL DEBATING UPON VERDICT

was given to the jury about 3:20 o'clock, Monday afternoon.

Three Possible Verdicts

Already barred by the presiding judge from returning a first degree verdict of murder, the jury had before it for its consideration three possible verdicts: second degree murder, manslaughter, or acquittal.

No sooner had the jurors retired to begin their deliberations than Judge Maxey and Margiotti resumed their bitter dispute, which has been a highlight of the present trial.

Margiotti objected strenuously to the judge's charge to the jury, in which the jurist bluntly stated a case had not been proven against Sanute, and attempted to show before the jury retired that the presiding judge was prejudiced against himself and the prosecution.

Denied the right to insert into court record his exceptions to the charge, Margiotti attempted later to present them in writing to the jurist, only to be informed by Judge Maxey, through the clerk of courts, that he had "no right to file exceptions—and I have already told him so.

STRIKE CURTAILS SOCIAL EVENTS

Aside from being costly to the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker and what have you, the sit-down strike now in effect at the plant of the National Pants company, Butler road, has struck a blow at another thing—social activities.

This is the impression members of The News editorial staff have gathered.

For the past several days, the News hase been notified that several meetings have been postponed this week due to the fact that some of the "sit-down strikers" have decided to curtail their social activities for a while at least, and stick to their sit-down strike.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The navy prepared today to swing ahead at full speed on its huge warship construction program, as leading producers submitted bids for 25,239,622 pound of steel.

Indicating a complete breakdown of the impasse which has held up progress due to mandatory hour and wage provisions of the Walsh-Healey act, the navy, opening bids, revealed that bids have been received in all needed categories.

The major bidders on heavy steel were Bethlehem Steel Co., Pittsburgh and San Francisco; Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., Pittsburgh; Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., Pittsubrgh; Joseph B. Cattie Co., Philadelphia; Luckens Steel Co., and Phoenix Iron Co.

QUESTION CABLE AND WOMAN IN CANTON CRIME

fore someone fired a shotgun through a window, killing Mrs. Cable.

An auto similar to that described by the girls is reported held by police.

At Standstill

Canton, O., March 16.—Investigation of the mysterious shotgun murder of Mrs. Rose Cable, 48, came to a temporary standstill today after intensive questioning most of the night of the slain woman's husband and the "other woman" in his life.

"We got nothing," said Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmeh wearily as he left for his home to rest following the grilling of Deuber S. Cable, well-to-do contractor, and Miss Theresa Ludwig, 45, twice a divorcee.

Cable was permitted to go to his home, where funeral services for his wife were conducted yesterday.

The questioning conducted during the night by Barthelmeh and Chief of Detectives Elmer Clark was marked by a dramatic meeting between Cable and the woman, both of whom have admitted an affair of seven years duration. For the most part, the two were grilled separately.

Three or four men had knowledge of the Akron apartment which Cable maintained for Miss Ludwig, Chief Clark said. One of them has been questioned and may be questioned again, he added.

PRESIDEN AND WIFE WILL SPEAK

that for the first time in thirty-two years, President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be spending their wedding anniversary apart.

Married In 1905

On a bright St. Patrick's day in New York City in 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt gave his niece, Eleanor Roosevelt, in marriage to the distant relative of the same name who is now president of the United States.

None of the four tall sons nor the daughter will join with their parents on this anniversary. Daughter Anna is helping her husband, John Boettiger, get out a newspaper in Seattle. Eldest son James is setting out on a speaking tour in behalf of his father's judiciary reform proposal. Elliott is busy running a Texas radio chain. Franklin, Jr., and John are at Harvard.

Here at Warm Springs, Betsy Roosevelt, wife of James, was worrying about an appropriate menu for the 17th. Betsy has assumed the duties of mistress of the little white house in the absence of her mother-in-law and her chief concern has been a diversified menu.

In the projected radio speech, the president may make another plea for popular support of his court reform program. The speech will be addressed particularly to the following of Senator David I. Walsh (D), of Massachusetts, who is leagued with foes of the program.

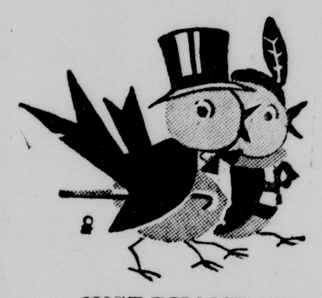

Today, weather permitting, Mr. Roosevelt will make his postponed visit to the resettlement administration project at Pine Mountain Valley and the CCC camp near Chipley, Ga. The inspection tour scheduled for yesterday, was delayed when chill winds and a driving rain pelted the white cottage underneath the tall pines of Pine Mountain.

When lunch time neared, the small tables were prettily re-appointed in tones suggestive of Spring, and a delicious repast served. The hostess was aided by her mother, Mrs. Harvey E. Martin, and Miss Wilda Smith, with the menu.

However, as the mid-night hour approached, it was soon revealed to be a shower, and Miss Fleming was presented with a beautiful gift by Louise Birt, president, in behalf of the class.

Lunch was later served, the table and menu appointments being in keeping with the St. Patrick motif. Novel miniature green hats, marked each place as favors. # Egbert M. Hayes Addresses Woman's Club On "China"

A most enlightening lecture on "China" was delivered before the Woman's Club when they met Monday afternoon, in the Highland U. P. church. Mrs. George W. Short, chairman of the department of International Relations, introduced the speaker, Egbert M. Hayes.

Born in China and of missionary parents, Mr. Hayes came to America to secure his education, later returning to the land of his birth to engage in Y. M. C. A. work. At present he is regional director of the Emergency Peace Commission.

"Of what do you think when 'China' is mentioned?" Mr. Hayes asked. "Of chopsticks and laundrymen? Rice and jade- Age old adherence to custom?" That is not the China of today. A new era began one hundred and thirty years ago when Robert Morrison, first missionary to China, began his educational work there. He persuaded a few of the younger men to come to America to complete their education. That movement has grown until today, there are two thousand Chinese students in the United States.

"These scholars have returned to China, carrying back new ideas. The result has been a political, social and industrial revolution. The Manchu dynasty was overthrown and a republic founded. Social customs have become modernized, patterning after the customs of this country. Industrial occupations, formerly carried on by handicraft in the home, have given way to factory production. Mass education is being furthered on a large scale. "The man who is doing most to weld China into a strong, progressive nation, is Chiang Kae Shek, premier", stated Mr. Hayes.

"The Chinese are a gracious race," Mr. Hayes told his audience. "They do not argue, they discuss. They do not try to force their viewpoint upon you, but try always to search out the truth. They are loyal, intelligent, and just as interested in high purpose as any people in the world."

In conclusion, the speaker predicted that China will have a brilliant future. He urged a more intense cultivation of the friendship which already exists between the two nations, and recommended a closer study of the country whose rich heritage is the most ancient culture in the world.

Mrs. Harry L. Gormley presided over the business session and hostesses for the day were Mrs. W. L. Cosel and Mrs. C. J. Kirk.

A large atendance of local club women, shared this enjoyable meeting.

REARMAMENT ROAD TO RUIN

ANNOUNCEMENT that the French Government has taken over the Schneider Creusot Company, one of the world's greatest armament firms, emphasizes once more the gigantic mobilization of war materials now going on in Europe. The nationalization decree, affecting the manufacture of cannon, torpedoes, air bombs, artillery shells and armor plate, follows seizure by the Government of airplane factories and indicates that France is resolved to stay in the vanguard of the nations preparing for war on a stupendous scale.

The French action follows close upon publication of Great Britain's enormous rearmament program and of plans to protect London from bombers through the use of vast air nets. Germany and Italy, pace-setters in the rearmament movement, and Soviet Russia, with the world's largest standing army, also are leading participants in the greatest race in war preparedness that the world has ever known.

Apart from the war fever which they seem to be inciting there is an economic factor in these far-flung activities which may well cause thoughtful citizens of every county to regard them as disastrous to human well-being suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer. The spending of billions of dollars on armament is now, in Walter Lippmann's expressive phrase, "explosively inflationary." When thousands of workers are employed in munitions factories there is an appearance of prosperity. Prices go up, and so do wages.

But an armament race does not bring prosperity. The zest it creates is false. Production for war does not constitute production of national wealth. Its purpose is not the comfort and welfare of the people. Its whole intent is destruction. It does not add dollars to the national income. Instead, it presages stifling taxation, depleted resources, ruined trade, depression, hunger, misery and death.

The European nations that are devoting almost their whole energies to rearmament are imperiling the course of world recovery and of civilization. The economic woe they are now laying up for mankind is second only to that caused by actual warfare.

TO MAKE CAPONE PAY BOARD

The bill introduced in Congress to make Al Capone and other wealthy Federal prisoners pay for their meals seems to have an element of justice. By a curious anomaly prisoners for debt in England formerly were required to pay for any additions to their bread and water diet. Inmates of the Fleet, as Dickens showed in Pickwick Papers, could command lodgings and food commensurate with their means.

According to Representative Beiter, the expense of maintaining Al Capone at Alcatraz for twenty years will exceed $20,000. The figure seems high, but is based on information supplied by the Federal Bureau of Prisons, which may include in its bookkeeping the capital investment in the California fortress and costs of heating, light and power.

In the case of Capone, who was convicted of income tax evasion, it seems especially fitting to make him pay for his keep, although pure logic might give point to the contention that he and his brother racketeers are not voluntary guests of the Government's boarding houses.

THE HORSE-AND-BUGGY DAYS

President Roosevelt's reference to the NRA decision as harking back to the "horse-and-buggy days" may not have signified such antiquilty after all. For a report comes from Huntingburg, Ind., where Herman Heitman manufactures buggies, that his business is on the up-grade.

In prophesying a bright 1937 for the buggy business, Mr. Heitman reveals that his plant produced 12,000 units in 1936. Just when we thought that the only remaining carriages were owned by Hollywood studios for use in period pictures.

One writer obtains great satisfaction in learning that prosperity has returned to the buggy business. He finds that, "for thinking things out, a buggy is superior to a woodshed on a rainy day."

"There may be periods without precipitation when cogitation is urgently needed," this writer continues, "and the contemplative carriage is always available. Steering a motorcar is not conductive to concentration on anything else. Many a career has been carved by the simple expedient of giving the horse his head and devoting one's own to questions other than those of right and left turns."

Great thought is needed on matters of import today. Perhaps we should follow this writer's advice and provide all our law-makers with horses and buggies and set them riding.

Nothing seems to make a man more convinced that the Supreme Court ought to be enlarged than holding a government job.

Military strategists say that Uncle Sam needs very little aid in case of defensive war. Fine. And let's remember to depend on ourselves for what aid we need.

A newspaper editor is something like a preacher. He can go along doing pretty well for months and nobody pays any attention to him. But if he makes one mistake—then he gets plenty of criticism.

Spring is almost here. The big league baseball players have gone South to train. It won't be long until the boys are getting ready for the Congressional elections next year. Tempus certainly does fugit, especially when you are old enough to remember when the first Roosevelt was President.

Bible Thought For Today

Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, no device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest.—Ecclesiastes 9.10.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WINNING DAD OVER.

WHILE I WAS conducting a forum on "Helping Our Youth", at the Farmers' Week program at Ohio State university, a mother asked, "Suppose a mother tries to do these things, but the father does not agree?"

This is a widely prevalent problem, not easily solved. "Too bad the husband is not here," I said, "so he could share with you in the discussion. For you to repeat enthusiastically what we have said here might easily make him less ready to co-operate. Be sure not to tell him he should have been here or that a certain book or lecture is what he ought to read or hear. Whilehe should it's bad technique for a wife to tell him so. It wounds his sense of superiority and makes him more resistant of her ideas and ways of dealing with their child."

The clever mother who thinks she understands her child can hardly hope to win her husband to her point of view by a frontal attack. She must be much more adroit. She will get farthest, as a rule, by letting her ways prove workable, and by setting the stage so as to cultivate a closer relationship between the child and father, and by celebrating Dad's successes in guiding the child well.

Ask His Companionship

Perhaps she can get him to hear a good lecture on child rearing and family relationship by appealing to him to go with her for companionship so she might learn, without the slightest suggestion that he might also learn or should. She might get him to read this column or a book or magazine article on the subject by asking him to read such to her while she is mending or doing other jobs about the house. Almost any husband would cheerfully accede to this request and feel very happy at the opportunity to help educate his wife. Try it, but keep this article away from your husband. Coming back to the wife's problem. I told her that her hope was in winning dad in some way to her point of view, but not in arguments with him, especially before the child; that a great many fathers would co-operate more readily if the mother would stiffen up a little on standards of the child's behavior and would, from the time the child is very young, teach him to obey.

Then I added that in some homes the mother would do well not to try to carry through some measures with the child which she ardently believes in. Some things, however good, can be had only at too great cost. In your home, ask yourself what can be accomplished rather than what should be accomplished. Do what can be done and quit condemning yourself for failing to do the rest.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WARNING FROM ROOSEVELT DEMOCRAT.

The present generation are making a topsy-turvy people of the Nation today. Here is John S. McCroarty, a Democratic member of the House of Representatives from California, opposing the President's desire to make the Supreme Court to his liking. McCroarty is a great Californian. It is he who fathered the Mission Play at San Gabriel. It is he who has been instrumental in rebuilding the old Missions which were built a day's journey along the Camino de Real by the Franciscans from San Diego to San Francisco, and it is he who was re-elected last November as a Roosevelt Democrat. What he has now to say is especially significant of the revolt within the President's Party of those who can see beyond the length of their noses.

McCroarty wrote his opinion for the Los Angeles Times at the request of Harry Chandler, publisher of that paper. I quote the highlights of his contribution.

"Let me say at the outset that I consider it of no importance what

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:07. Sun rises tomorrow 6:10.

Payment has been made to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jacobson of 28½ East street of the $5 promised by the Hints and Dints man for every baby born on March 12, his birthday. This was on account of little Beverly Jean Jacobson who was born here on that date. A doctor's certificate is necessary to secure payment of the $5 and claim can be made until April 1. Of course the babies must have been born on March 12, 1937. No other year counts. According to the unofficial records, there were several babies born in the county on March 12, but Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson are the only ones who have presented their claim as yet.

In Wisconsin, policemen now lecture children on traffic safety. Imagine great, big, he-man cops standing there and telling kids a fairy tale.

Everyone will soon be owning and flying his own airplane, an aviation enthusiast predicts. The new flivver plane, he explains, will be egg-shaped. And a lot of them will wind up scrambled, too, we'll bet.

REASSURING

"Has anyone ever been lost in crossing here?" asked a timid woman, who had hired a boatman to ferry her across a river.

"No'm," was the reply. "My brother was drowned here last week, but they found him the next day."

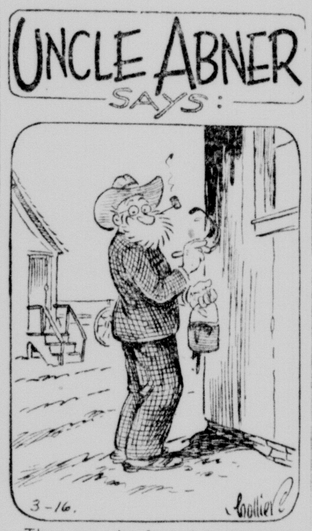

Another month or so and the only strikes which will be called will be by the umpires and people will be a lot more satisfied.

Japan is rapidly becoming civilized. A new law prohibits small children from being worked between 11 p. m. and 5 a. m.

If the drawing is bad, the perspective wrong and the coloring unnatural, it was done by a child or a great artist.

A Chicago woman has obtained an injunction against her husband, who, she claims, has been shaking his finger in her face, glowering at her, and exclaiming "I'm the kaiser," since 1916. What that woman ought to do is have a sanity commission appointed for a bird like that.

They may be forced to postpone the Supreme Court fight on account of rain—rain of protests.

Europeans must think we are an awfully backward people. Not a single American home, to their surprise, is equipped with gas masks.

All violence seems wicked, until you have done your best to reason with a hard-head who won't be reasonable.

TOO HOT

Teacher: "Can you tell me what happened after Napoleon mustered his army?"

Pupil: "Yes, sir. He peppered the enemy and took the citadel by assault."

Teacher: "Sit down, sir, and do 50 lines for your sauce."

You need only to tell a woman what is necessary—she will find out the rest.

Maybe conservative Justices could be bribed to resign by offering them double pay.

Wisdom of the Fathers: An old-timer's saying that seems to fit the idea you are trying to put over.

HISTORY REPEATED

Two clergymen, one highly educated and the other quite the opposite, were discussing the value of education.

"I suppose," said the latter, "that you have gone through college."

"Yes, I have," modestly replied the minister.

"Well," declared he of little education, "I am thankful that the Lord opened my mouth without an education."

"Yes," courteously asserted the other. "A similar thing, we are told, happened in Balaam's time."

A Norristown dealer reports that horse-selling is more profitable now than it was ten years ago. From the way prices have been booming lately, we imagine that is true with a lot of things.

An Easterner, visiting in the west, stopped at a small hotel in a cow town.

"Do they dress for dinner here?" he inquired importantly of the bellhop, after he had gone to his room.

"It's cheaper sir," said the boy, "meals in your room is a quarter extra."

The Sunday dinner chicken has its revenge, too, as most of us realize when we encounter chicken croquets, chicken hash, and chicken soup the rest of the week.

The president claims that the Supreme Court is composed of old and misguided men, who have set themselves up as a "super-legislature," to override legislation of Congress. Well with such birds in Congress, who yes the president on any and every occasion. We sort of admire the poor misguided old fellows, who have nerve enough to say no once in a while.

A woman in Hungary spoke for the first time since birth, when informed recently that a grandchild had been born. Just imagine what would have happened if it had been triplets or something.

A bill has passed the Senate and has been sent to the House of Representatives prohibiting persons from using minors as 'stool pigeons' in liquor law enforcement. We have been wondering for a long time if there was a law on the statute books of the state which provided punishment for people who sell liquor to minors. There is plenty of it being done and right here in New Castle.

SUPER SALESWOMAN

Mother: What happened when the high-pressure salesman called today?

Daughter: Oh, I sold him father's old clothes and all the discarded furniture in the attic.

Our courts are becoming more democratic every day. Judge Nelson McVickar of the United States District Court in Pittsburgh ruled that jurors may drink liquor and voice opinions of lawyers during trials. This is going to be too bad for a lot of lawyers.

You can tell the woman who is not afraid of her husband. She doesn't mind showing him the fender on his car, which she smashed up.

There are three kinds of mind: the conscious used for thinking, the subconscious for storing knowledge, and the unconscious used by loyal party men.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Very soon our school is to have a dance. I must invite a boy to accompany me. Please tell me how to go about this procedure. SCHOOL GIRL.

Answer—Before making overtures of this sort you should be sure that your action will not be misconstrued.

If possible ask a boy who has previously taken you out. Should you invite a young man who has never shown you any especial attention he may be sufficiently conceited to believe that you are practically asking him for a date, hoping for potential interest on his part. In other words, be sure of your man.

You must pay for the tickets. Never invite a boy to accompany you to any function and expect him to buy the tickets. He should supply the means of transportation, unless you have a car and he has none in which case he may drive yours.

Dear Miss Markel—If I meet, by accident, a man of my acquaintance in a public vehicle, should I allow him to pay my fare? A. M. B.

Answer—Proceed to pay your own and if he offers to do so, protest slightly. If he insists on paying it accept his offer graciously and refrain from arguing.

The World At A Glance

Solons Will Face Battle.
Elections Will Be Real Contests.
Will Test President's Strength.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

IT IS INTERESTING to observe which senators will be up for re-election in 1938. They will offer a test of pro-Roosevelt vs. anti-Roosevelt sentiment.

Such pro-Roosevelt senators as Hugo L. Black of Alabama, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Carl Hayden of Arizona, Robert F. Wagner of New York, Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, Homer T. Bone of Washington and recently appointed Herbert E. Hitchcock, filling the Norbeck vacancy in South Dakota, will receive unqualified New Deal support. If past elections can be taken as an indication, that would mean large majorities for them.

Others, however, may find pressure bearing on them concerning their stand on Rooseveltian issues.

PRESSURE TO BEAR

Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway is listed among others as being "on the fence" concerning the supreme court issue. She probably could win in Arkansas without Roosevelt support. She is considered in Arkansas to be more liberal than the president, yet the state is overwhelmingly Roosevelt.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who knows trends as well as anybody, has been siding with the president on the supreme court issue and undoubtedly will receive New Deal support in the 1938 election. California, as McAdoo knows, is strongly pro-Roosevelt.

TO BE REPLACED?

Alva B. Adams of Colorado has been extremely anti-New Deal. The New Dealers evidently will try to replace him in the 1938 primary. Walter F. George of Georgia and Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina are in the same category.

Augustine Lonergan of Connecticut also is opposing the president on the supreme court issue.

And William H. Dieterich of Illinois has acted throughout his term more as if he were a very conservative Republican than a Democrat. The New Deal counts Illinois as one of its strongest supporting states.

George McGill of Kansas has been hesitating on the supreme court issue, but it is probable he could not be re-elected without Rooseveltian aid.

ANY LONG STRENGTH?

John H. Overton, whom Huey Long brought to the senate, will be up for re-election in Louisiana. The president is believed to have absorbed all the Long strength and Overton is counted these days as a New Dealer.

In Maryland, an arch-enemy of the New Deal among the Democrats, Millard E. Tydings, comes before the people—and it will be interesting to see the lineup there.

And how will matters shape up in Missouri with Bennett Champ Clark? He is mentioned now and then as a possible conservative contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. He has been drawing farther and farther away from the administration. His father had a tussle with Woodrow Wilson for the presidential nomination in 1912—conservative vs. progressive—and lost.

STRUGGLE IN OHIO

There probably will be a wild scramble in Ohio for the seat of Robert J. Bulkley. A year or two ago Bulkley said he would retire. Now he is aiding the president in the supreme court fight—which may mean that he plans to run for renomination, with New Deal support. Governor Martin L. Davey, who at times has been strenuously anti-New Deal, would like to grab the seat. Ohio, however, is strongly pro-Roosevelt.

Frederick Van Nuys has been opposing the president on the supreme court issue. He may find Indiana a bit hot for him around election time. It has been strongly pro-Roosevelt—up to the present at least.

Guy M. Gillette is in the same fix in Iowa.

QUIET ONES

Two or three quiet senators may slip through for another three years.

Claude Pepper, new senator from Florida, for example, and Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire (who probably could not win without New Deal support.)

He was 40 when he published the book that was to have tremendous influence on the whole development of the theory and applications of current electricity and to cause his name to be incorporated into the terminology of electrical science. He viewed the motion of an electric charge along a wire as entirely analogous to the flow of water through a pipe and that there must be an electrical entity comparable to the pressure or "head" that forces the water through the pipe. Thus he started electrical measurement and control.

March 16, 1802.—United States Military Academy was created by act of congress and ordered established at what was then the country's only cantonment, West Point, New York. Two previous attempts by George Washington, to induce congress to establish such an institution had been rejected on the ground it was unnecessary.

40 Years Ago Today.—The world at large learned in detail for the first time of an amazing phenomenon, wireless telegraphy. Jagadis C. Bose Hindu, had set up an electric "radiater" (a platinum ball between two beads of the same metal) connected with a 2-volt battery, and projected an electric wave 75 feet, through three brick walls, with sufficient force to fire a pistol and ring a bell. W. H. Preece, English, had sent 156 messages by induction from the mainland four miles to the Island of Mull. Then, after them, William Marconi, Italian, had created waves of sound by electrostatic principle. A London publication announcing these wondrous things, ventured: "It is perfectly practicable to send dispatches 20 miles through anything that may happen in the way."

A German publication says, "A few years ago, a machine was patented in the U. S. which would have increased the capacity of producing electric light bulbs 550 times. In order to prevent the wholesale dismissal of workers, the international cartel bought the invention and discarded it." In other publications, too, there have been stories of "international cartels" buying such devices as perpetual matches and destroying the inventions. We don't believe it. And we think folks are wrong if they believe that all unemployment is created by machinery. Machinery has created more jobs than it has destroyed. Consider the automobile, the printing press, the telephone, the steam shovel. Consider the electric refrigerator, which, loose-thinkers will suppose, put millions of icemen out of work. By 1930 the number of ice dealers had increased 237 per cent over the census figures of a decade before, due to the increased demand for ice stimulated by the mechanical refrigerator, and employment had been provided for thousands in the construction of the refrigerators.

Only 16 per cent of inventions have their primary purpose the saving of labor, it is indicated by a study of patents.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Roosevelt Is Picked To Run

Washington Columnist views President As Number One Choice In 1940

TOO MANY "IFS" FOR CERTAINTY

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—As a member of the editorial staff of The Queen's Work, magazine of the Sodality of Our Lady, published in St. Louis, Father Edward Dowling, Society of Jesus, is polling the Washington press gallery on the question:

"Who are the probable Democratic presidential candidates in 1940?"

I have one of his reverence's queries.

I don't wish to try to beat The Queen's Work on its own story, but I see nothing journalistically unethical in utilizing, for my own purposes, the answer I am making, especially considering that I have weighed the same problem recently and must repeat myself a little.

TOO MANY "IF'S"

In the first place, so many different and conflicting things may happen between now and 1940 that today's guessing does not mean much as to three-and-one-half years hence. This is an era of rapid transitions.

Secondly:

Father Dowling asks that presidential possibilities be listed in their order of "probability".

Now, a request like that really verges upon the requestee's assumption of almost infinite wisdom, which I do not lay claim to. The "ifs" and "ands" involved would fill an unabridged dictionary.

F. D. R. AGAIN?

"If," to begin with, the federal supreme court fight still is pending in 1940, I would say that the Democrats' next presidential candidate will be Franklin D. Roosevelt.

I accept, as made in good faith, his implication that he is not expecting a renomination.

But he can be drafted. It will be noted that he has implied he does not expect to be renominated, but he has not said he would out-and-out refuse a renomination—if necessary.

I should go so far as to predict that "F. D. R." will be Democratic probability No. 1 if the supreme court fight still is hanging fire then.

WALLACE OR LEWIS?

But suppose otherwise.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace persistently is Democratically mentioned presidentially. He used to be a Republican. But who cares for that in this mixed-up political generation!

John L. Lewis is increasingly presidentially referred to. He was a Republican, too. Again, no batter. If his labor leadership solidifies itself, as promises, he has the candidatorial quality. He has the personantiy. There is that old question of "if" once more.

CLARK OR LA FOLLETTE?

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri figures in the equation.

He is eastern and western, northern and southern. He has ability and heredity. He is rather conservative, however. Who knows how much that will count in 1940?

"Young Bob" La Follette has heredity also. That, and not much else, I would say. Nevertheless, that is my personal opinion.

MURPHY OR EARLE?

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan has been remarkably successful in settled labor troubles in his home state—but can he keep on doing it until 1940? Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania promises pretty well—but can he keep it up?

And ex-Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana?—now high commissioner to the Philippines?

As to the rest?—

Small potatoes, on down.

Story Of Author Tracing Steps Of Bible Character Reviewed By Library

In an attempt to furnish its readers with suitable material for Lenten reading, the public library has suggested a book. Many library borrowers will remember with pleasure reading H. V. Morton's "In the Steps of the Master" once again. Mr. Morton has turned back the pages of history to interpret a great figure in terms of the present, by his book, "In the Steps of St. Paul."

This time he has taken three extensive trips through Asia Minor and along the Mediterranean seaboard in search of material. Great portions of his journey have been made by mule, donkey, horseback, camel or actulally on foot. When St. Paul set forth, the excellent Roman roads and well developed transportation services probably made his journey less difficult than those of his twentieth century follower.

Mr. Morton retraces the Apostle's actual steps during his foiur separate missionary journeys through the Ancient World.

Many Exhibit Model Planes At Library

List Of Model Airplane Builders Given—Exhibit Still Open For Models

Many exhibitors have already placed their airplanes on display at the free public library aviation show. According to Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian who is sponsoring this show, some of the model builders have entered as many as five ships, in an effort to win the prize which is being offered for the best exhibit.

Miss Joyce has released the following list as exhibitors who have models on display at the present time: Thomas Boyd, Donald Howard, James Dean, Donald McCoy, Victory Emery, Stanley Ferrell, Harry Fisher, Harold Wright, Billy Madden, John Earl, Theodore Lasky, Thaddeus Lasky, Joe Toplolosky, and Gerald McCoy.

A large exhibit of model ships were placed on display by the Union High Birdmen club, which is an airplane club located at Union township high school. This club studies aviation and builds model planes, thereby getting a general knowledge of aviation.

Ruby Keeler says:
"Luckies are a light smoke that treat a tender throat right"

"In a way, it's easier to keep in condition as a dancer than as a singer. Exercise can keep the muscles in shape, but there are a lot of things that can go wrong with the voice and throat. It stands to reason, then, that any actress wants a cigarette that is gentle and strikes the right note with her throat. I started smoking Luckies 4 years ago. They're a light smoke that treat a tender throat right."

Ruby Keeler

LOVELY WARNER BROS. STAR NOW APPEARING IN "READY, WILLING AND ABLE"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Keeler verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Federal Government Provides 150 Here NYA 'Student Pay'

School District Does Not Bear Expense, Superintendent Explains

There are approximately 150 public school boys and girls in New Castle receiving National Youth Administration student pay, but not one cent of the pay comes out of the treasury of the New Castle school district, Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green pointed out today.

Dr. Green declaring that he wanted to correct the impression that the school district pays the students, said:

"The NYA student pay of $6 per month is paid by the federal government. The government allocates certain amounts to high schools and junior highs and the students are chosen by the NYA. The schools assign to the students the jobs they do."

The school superintendent reported that about 150 New Castle students, 100 of them at Senior high, are now receiving the federal help.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council is still angling for the state hospital which the commonweath proposes to build in western Pennsylvania. Some time ago the city offered Cunningham park site to the state. It is now said that the city and county may make some arrangements whereby a site will be offered free to the state.

It is not yet known when Mayor Charles E. McGrath and officials of the WPA will convene to thrash out the statement of M. A. Mulcahy that he was given the impression that the WPA had been given a list of men who council recommended for jobs. Council denied ever pubmitting such a list.

With spring only a week distant and plans prepared for paving of practically two dozen thoroughfares it is probable that upon the return of Glenn R. Throop, city engineer, now ill, plans for getting the work under way will be launched. There are yet some streets on the A program to be improved.

It was learned today that members of council already have twice discussed the request of 212 city employs for a full restoration of salaries which if granted would amount to approximately $33,000. One councilman has indicated that a legal barrier may thwart a general restoration.

It is not yet known if the tennis courts on Boyles field will be put in condition this spring. Several years ago the net court provided exercise for many. There also was a court at George Washington junior high school. An additional court will be built at Gaston park, it has been stated.

According to attaches of the city engineer's office the Paper mill district is within the city limits. Lights have been placed along The Narrows which leads to that section.... So far council has not made any formal statement relative to a claim that private land was damaged by Rural Avenue improvement.

Chief of police Ralph Criswell has what he believed may be a keepsake of someone. It is a check signed by George K. Welch which was made payable to the W. W. Lawrence & Company, on the First National Bank. It is dated September 1, 1908 and was found by Charles Mann in Blaine street and turned over to police.

When persons arrested by city police for driving while drunk were convicted in court it was generally understood their driving license was revoked. It is now reported that when persons are arrested and convicted of reckless driving they must appear for hearings before a state highway patrol board.

Mention Friedman For Position On PU Commission

HARRISBURG, March 16.— The movement to land Deputy Attorney General Edward Friedman on the proposed public utilities commission took on momentum today.

Although considered a possible appointee for some time, Friedman's chances for the post were believed enhanced considerably with appointment of Louis E. Levinthal to a Philadelphia judgeship.

Administration leaders, it was learned, are seriously considering Friedman. This, Secretary of the Commonwealth and State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence confirmed.

Friedman's name was first mentioned, it was learned, by the attorney general himself.

Others who appear slated for posts on the commission included Richard J. Beamish, counsel for the present public service commission; Thomas Buchanan, only Democratic member on the body; state WPA Administrator Edward N. Jones, and Judge Harry Kalodner, of Philadelphia, the latter two "if they want the jobs."

The World At A Glance

IN IDAHO

Administration support undoubtedly will go to James P. Pope to try to produce a whooping big majority in Senator William E. Borah's home state, Idaho.

Patrick A. McCarran is likely to pull through without serious contest in Nevada.

Robert R. Reynolds evidently pleases the North Carolinians and probably will win easily.

Wisconsin offers embarrassment to the New Deal. The La Follettes may bar any real support for F. Ryan Duffy, who is not progressive enough for the Progressives.

REPUBLICANS

Some Republicans well may shiver in their boots.

Gerald P. Nye, more of a Progressive than a Republican, need not fear in North Dakota.

But not as much can be said for Frederick Steiwer in Oregon and James J. Davis in Pennsylvania. The New Dealers expect to gain those two seats — and lose none anywhere.

Ernest W. Gibson again should carry that staunch G. O. P. state—Vermont.

UPPER HAND?

All this goes to indicate that President Roosevelt can bring considerable pressure to bear on one-third of the senate — that third coming up for re-election in 1938.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

the President's motives may be in making a proposal which has roused the country to a state of concern not paralleled perhaps since the secession of the Confederate States from the Union.

"It is not a question of any man's personal motive or conviction, but, on the contrary, a question solely of the preservation of our American system of government, as set up under the Constitution and by which the business of government has been operated for the last century and a half.

"It is a question as to whether the executive department of the government shall invade both the legislative and judiciary branches of the government and thus scrap the Constitution. That's all it is, and nothing else.

"It is of no importance that President Roosevelt has been charged as being the victim of a grotesquely exaggerated ego, that he is impatient and intolerant of opposition, or that he sincerely believes he can by his own single and individual ideas restore prosperity and bring about what he, himself, calls 'the abundant life.'

"The attacks on the President, and his attacks, however veiled, on the Supreme Court and upon all citizens who disagree with him, have had and will have no weight with me in the decision to oppose his proposal with at least my own one vote in Congress.

"If it were that I stand in need of guidance from sources of unquestioned wisdom among my great countrymen of past generations, all I would need to do is to take to heart and mind the statement of the first President. Washington said that 'the spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments (of the government) in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism.'

"A just estimate of that love of power, and proneness to abuse it, which predominates in the human heart, is sufficient to satisfy us of the truth of this position.

"The necessity of reciprocal checks in the exercise of political power, by dividing and distributing it into different depositories, and constituting each the guardian of the public wealth against invasion by the others, has been evinced by experiments ancient and modern; some of them in our own country and under our own eyes. To preserve them must be as necessary as to institute them.

"If, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designated.

"Washington also said—as though he were speaking of this present hour of crisis—'let there be no change by usurpation, for though this, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed.'

"All this from him who carved our nation with his unconquerable sword, and who afterward held the nation together by his wisdom and because of the trust of his countrymen in his integrity. Save for Washington there would never have been a United States of America. I gladly accept him for my guidance.

"Then if I should desire to be guided by an opinion of a colleague sitting with me in the Congress now, I would weigh carefully the statement by the Honorable Samuel B. Pettengill, Democrat of Indiana, who, speaking on the President's proposal in a public address, said, 'it is too much power for a good man to ask, and too much for a bad man to have.'

"Consider the powers already granted President Roosevelt by the Congress functioning since the time he was first inaugurated. No such powers have ever been granted to any President preceding him, nor are any such powers exercised by any king or potentate, ruler or dictator in any other nation in the world.

"These powers so freely and improvidently granted Mr. Roosevelt by Congress appear to have resulted mostly in the creation of a national debt in excess of any by which the country has ever been burdened before. A national debt, which is constantly increasing.

"And while no one can deny, or care to deny, that much of the debt was created to relieve human distress and misery and to stop further progress of an unprecedented economic depression, the fact remains that the debt is growing ever greater and greater. A debt that some day somebody must pay, even though it shall become necessary to tax the roof over the head of the poorest citizen of the land.

"My own convictions as a lifelong student of the history of our country, and most particularly now in the realization of my responsibility as a member of the Congress of the United States, are the things, that lead me to oppose the prosopal to remake the Supreme Court. We must either keep each department of the government as set forth in the Constitution separate and apart, the one from the other, or scrap the Constitution altogether.

"Let me be permitted to say in conclusion that I have no fear that the proposal will ever be brought to realization. My opinion from close observation is that it will never be adopted. The people of our country are not yet of the mind to abandon a system of government which was bought at the price of bloody footprints in the snows of Valley Forge. If any department of the government is to be reformed and made over, it will be done as Washington advised, namely, by an amendment to the Constitution submitted to the people for approval."

Business Girls Of Y Have Three Clubs

Local Y. W. C. A. Provides Fine Opportunities For Young Business Women

Three business girls' clubs find satifaction in their interest at the Y. W. C. A. Nearly every girl will say, after she has been a member for a while, that she joined to know new girls or to make new friends but thought she was attracted just by some program feature such as basketball or bowling or certain book reviews and interest groups.

Business girls are taking more of an interest in causes for social unrest such as the depression out of which the nation is emerging and the ways such a calamity may be avoided next time. One club has been studying the contributions of Greek government to our own government and found that many of the present problems are very ancient ones and that the ancient Greeks by trying to solve their problems had much to tell modern civilization.

All three clubs enjoy travel talks and share programs of this nature where the interesting experiments of other peoples are portrayed rather than some oddity about them.

One club has taken for its project the redecorating and refurnishing of the new Rose room on the third floor. They arranged a variety show and earned the money to get started. They were encouraged by the attendance of all groups in the Y. W. C. A.

There is a joint council made up of the officers of all three clubs which takes care of the department business and plans such joint programs as the nation-wide observance which included all the business and professional women of the association. The interest of the girls in international relations was shown by the excellent program on action for peace which the committee arranged for this nation-wide dinner.

Next fall the New Castle Y. W. C. A. business girls will entertain the Tri-State Business Girls conference.

ROUNDING CORNER

Street department employes today started rounding the southeast corner of Fairmont avenue.

While herding pigs, Peter Schoti, a farmer's son, took shelter under a tree in Yugoslavia to escape a storm. Lightning struck the tree, according to a report received at Belgrade, and rendered the lad deaf and dumb. Three days later Peter again sought shelter under a tree. Lightning also struck that timber, hurling the boy to the ground. When he recovered he could speak and hear perfectly again.

According to recent estimates there are a thousand million stars.

No Change In Strike Status

Sit-Down Strike At National Pants Factory In Eleventh Day

AWAIT WORD FROM NEW YORK TODAY

There was no change in the situation at the plant of the National Pants Company, on the Butler road, where the entire plant force has been sitting down since March 6, awaiting a settlement of wage differences.

As the strike entered its eleventh day today, workers and the plant management here were awaiting word from New York, where a conference is being staged between union officials and the plant owners looking toward a settlement.

Today was one of the quietest that has been noted inside the factory. It was almost like walking into a church this morning as the workers sat about, chatting in groups, or playing cards, or reading. The silence was broken only by the announcer at the microphone, calling someone to the door to greet a friend or relative.

The strike has been one of the most orderly and quietest that has ever been seen here. There has been no disorder to speak of, and apparently no hard feelings exist between the owners of the plant and the employes.

WITNESSES TELL RECOLLECTIONS OF MURDER OF 1906

Alice Rhodes, both former teachers of short hand, testified that they had transcribed the short hand notes of Mr. Mornes, in part, and they were examined at some length as to their qualifications to do so. These transcribed notes of testimony are being used in the case to refresh the memory of witnesses being called.

Woman Testifies

Mrs. Agnes Carroll of the Sixth ward, testified that on October 7, 1906, she and her husband resided at New Castle Junction about "700 feet below the buildings of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company. She said that on the night of October 7 she heard shots fired at some distance from her home and fixed the time at about 9:10. She said she was familiar with the district and the time of trains and that the shooting occurred after the departure of No. 28, a P. & L. E. passenger train from Buffalo to Pittsburgh. Later she said she had been told that the shots were those that had killed a man.

William J. Edmonds, now of Dormont, Pa., formerly a yard clerk in the New Castle Junction yards of the P. & L. E. said he was at work on the night of October 7, 1906, when a wounded man stumbled into his office. Edmonds said he went out to get the yard crew to aid him but when he returned the man had gone on to Rudy Blair's shanty, about forty feet away. Edmonds said the man was covered with blood and that at the time it was thought that he had come in on the Buffalo train.

Call Railroader

William Crane of North Crawford avenue, a railroader for the P. & L. E., was called. On the night of October 7, 1906, he said he was at work in the junction yards as a foreman. While he was in the shanty of Rudy Blair, a wounded man came in and wrote on a scratch pad on the desk. All that Crane could understand of it was "Romeo, Buffalo." Crane said he called a yard engine and accompanied the man to New Castle, east side station, where an ambulance took the man away.

Miss Margaret Leslie testified that she had copied articles from the New Castle News files of October and December, 1906, and that these had been given to several persons called as witnesses.

Dr. L. W. Wilson was recalled and the argument as the admissability of his testimony resumed. Judge Braham ruled that any testimony Dr. Wilson gave which was his own recollection, was admissable, but that any testimony which was taken from the notes he had would not be admitted.

Court recessed for noon.

FOUR OF DETROIT HOTELS ARE CLOSED AS STRIKE RESULT

ble in any of the four big hotels. Guests, upon awakening this morning, were apprised of the situation and in some instances were advised to check out with the management expressing its regret. Guests were allowed to enter and leave on passes. But no one else was allowed to enter the hotels, which voluntarily closed.

At the Statler the situation was different than at the other main hotels. There the strikers were in control.

Noted Guests Marooned

Among the guests marooned in the Book-Cadillac were Miss Sonja Henie, the skating star, and Tyrone Power, the Hollywood motion picture actor. Lily Pons, famous singer and radio star, was a guest of the strike-bound Statler.

At the request of Governor Murphy, Mayor Couzens had acted as arbitrator in all-night negotiations between union leaders and the hotel managements.

Throughout the night Mayor Couzens had gone back and forth between the two separate rooms trying to iron out the difficulties, without avail.

The negotiations became deadlocked on the closed shop issue and were finally terminated.

Police squads were thrown around each of the hotels. No violence was reported, however.

Auto Strike Situation

In the excitement over the hotel situation, the automobile strike—which has been taking the front pages of the local newspapers for days—was almost lost sight of.

The "sit-downers" in the eight Chrysler plants were ordered by virtue of an injunction issued by Circuit Judge Allan Campbell to vacate the plants and a "deadline" of nine o'clock tomorrow morning was set for their departure. The strikers, however, showed no signs of leaving.

Unless the factories are evacuated the Chrysler corporation may go into court tomorrow and ask for body attachments calling for the arrest of the strikers.

Other "sit-down" strikes were in progress in more than 30 stores and shops in Detroit. To complicate the situation, a strike was called among 3,000 drivers of inter-state trucks. Still another 'sit-down" tied up 50,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs in a local warehouse, including 10,000,000 pounds of perishable products.

Nazi Newspaper In New Onslaught

(International News Service)

BERLIN, March 16.—Opening another broadside on American Jewry, the Nazi newspaper Der Angriff today called upon President Roosevelt to put an end to "Jewish insults to Germany."

Dr. Angriff's latest onslaught resulted from the anti-Nazi mass meeting in Madison Square Garden last night, the proceedings of which were splashed on the front pages of most German newspapers.

The reports were carried with headlines such as:

"American Jew leaders insult the German nation."

Off the coast of Miami, Fla., fresh water can be found in the midst of the salt ocean, due to a spring formed by a subterranean river.

Lawrence County Commissioners to Minnie E. Canan, South New Castle Boro, $15.

Lawrence County Commissioners to James Canan, South New Castle Boro, $2.50.

This is the day when a group of Lawrence county citizens, official and unofficial, are trying to convince the Authority Board that this is the place to put the new state hospital. The meeting is at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Harrisburg and arguments will be advanced for the selection of Lawrence county.

Just how far the meeting today will get is problematical. The commissioners stand willing to purchase a track in the county large enough to house a state hospital, but so do the commissioners of Mercer county. And Mercer county has the additional advantage of being the residence of the secretary of health, Dr. Edith McBride-Dexter.

Bradford Banker Gives Testimony In Own Defense

Places Blame For "Loosely Run" Conditions At Bank On Assistant Cashier

International News Service Staff

ERIE, Pa., March 16.—Stanley Benton, a note teller, first of the 11 defendants in the alleged $1,300,000 shortage of the closed Commercial National bank of Bradford to go on trial in federal court here, today took the stand in his own defense.

He threw the entire blame for "loosely run" canditions at the bank on Frank W. Calkins, the assistant cashier, who committed suicide with carbon monoxide gas shortly after the federal investigation began.

Benton did admit, however, that while performing his duties under Calkins he thougth him an honest man.

Assistant U. S. Attorney John D. Ray, the prosecutor, drew from Benton an admission that he knew he had made a false entry of a $900 draft on the books at the direction of Calkins. He admitted typewriting another draft he knew was irregular.

In answer to Ray's questions, Benton admitted he often overdrew his personal checking account but gave the excuse other employes did likewise.

He likewise said the checks of the Cunningham Natural Gas corporation which were allegedly being "kited" were worthless and quoted Calkins as also being aware of this.

Benton admitted having nine personal notes in the bank for a total of $1,884 and that he did not pay interest or have them renewed. He said that Calkins had told him he would take care of one note for $700 if he were "caught short".

Benton admitted giving a number of checks amounting to $806 to Calkins for loans but that these were not cashed.

"I did not keep track of my checking account," he explained.

Benton told Ray he could get the money from Calkins when he was pressed but denied to the prosecutor he played a part in Calkins' scheme by covering the latter's shortages.

As court recessed for luncheon, Benton admitted he knew his practices in the bank were illegal.

Delegation Makes Application For State Sanitarium

New Castle And Lawrence County Representatives Make Harrisburg Visit

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 16.—Possibility of construction of a $2,000,000 tuberculosis sanitarium in their district was discussed today by a Lawrence county delegation of business, civic and political leaders in a conference with State Secretary of Health Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter.

Heading the delegation which conferred with the cabinet officer was Mayor Charles McGrath, of New Castle, and Lawrence county legislators, Sen. William Eroe and Rep. Carmi Preston.

Those in the delegation included: A. L. Bintz, Jr., president of the retail merchants' association of New Castle; Norman Clark, president of the Building and Loan association; L. J. Lewis, secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; New Castle councilmen Joseph Alexander and J. M. Mrs. Karmendi and Roy Lockard, 24, a WPA worker, whose plea to escape the death chair will be heard by the state pardon board March 24, were convicted of killing the woman's child, Matthew, Jr., out of fear he would babble of their friendship to her husband.

Amelia Earhart To Test "Fog-Lifting" Powder On Flight

By LEE RASHALL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937, by International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—When Amelia Earhart Putnam takes off from Oakland on her westward flight around the world, she will carry with her a quantity of powdered chemical, man's first known agent to combat the menace of fog, her husband-manager, George Palmer Putnam, revealed exclusively to International News Service today.

"My wife is deeply impressed with the action of this newly-discovered material on fog, and so she decided to carry some of it with her on the flight," Putnam said.

Will Use Powder.

"She will use it when she encounters fog conditions, probably over the Pacific. She is most anxious to observe the results."

Her flight will furnish the first over-water aerial test of the invention of J. R. Pleasants, San Francisco inventor, who claims his product capable of dispersing fog over any localized area when released into the atmosphere.

The invention, which it is said has been sought for purchase by the governments of Japan and Great Britain, has been hailed in some quarters as revolutionary.

May Help Flight.

It was not known that the famous aviatrix was interested in the development of the discovery until her husband indicated today it might spell success or failure of her globe-circling flight.

"My wife is acquainted with the experimental work of Mr. Pleasants, and she has used this chemical compound in three private tests over a southern California airport," Putnam said.

"She took the powder up with her in her plane and broke holes in fog banks with it by releasing it in powder form from the plane. Both she and I were tremendously impressed with the effects."

Miss Earhart's decision to carry the compound with her, he said, was made both for safety and experimental reasons.

Follow Fog Banks.

Veteran of the Pacific aerial route, she will follow fog banks on a portion of her journey.

Miss Earhart is carrying the chemical in small bags, her husband said. These bags, when serious fog is encountered, are dropped by the pilot on a parachute-like string. When the string becomes taut, it automatically opens the bag and distributes the contents into the air.

If used in sufficient quantity, the chemical is capable of clearing the air for four square miles and providing a "ceiling" of 500 feet, E. H. Dimity, associate of the inventor, said.

Two Bills On Milk Control Are Introduced

Lively Battle Over Measure Expected, Administration Is Interested

LONG-BREWING CLASH ARRIVES

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 16—The long-brewing clash over milk control legislation was precipitated today with the introduction of two rival measures, one sponsored by the administration.

The administration bill was dropped in the house hopper by Rep. John A Arnold, D. Fayette, and, if enacted, will convert the present milk control board into a commission, retain price fixing for both retailers and producers and place the program on a permanent basis.

Measure Outlined

Confirming an exclusive International News Service story of two weeks, ago, the Arnold bill, which replaces the present measure expiring next month, would also:

Place the burden of proof on milk dealers instead of with the new commission in court litigation over prices; require all milk dealers to post surety and collateral bonds for the "protection of dairy farmers" grant the commission jurisdiction over weighing and testing of milk; provide more stringent penalties; make it mandatory that the governor approve any price change affecting producers or consumers; stagger terms of the appointees with members of the first group serving for six, four and two years, respectively; regular "bona fide" cooperatives.

Terms Would Expire

With the enactment of the measure, terms of the present board members, Howard G. Eisaman, H. C. Reynolds and John Snyder would expire automatically.

Whether or not Gov. George H. Earle would reappoint the three present members to the proposed commission was a matter of conjecture, although observers indicated there would be no change.

The opposition measure was introduced by Sen. Weldon Heyburn, D., Delaware. Its prototype was expected to be introduced in the house this week by Rep. John A. Smith, D., Cumberland, sponsor of the present act.

Eliminate Price Fixing

The rival bill, as reported exclusively by International News Service three weeks ago, would eliminate price fixing on retailers, increase the board membership from three to five, and establish local compliance boards, modeled after those set up under the AAA, to administer the program.

Indications were that the Smith-Heyburn proposal would not have the backing to get them out of committee.

The administration measure also gives the commission power to regulate the prices of milk used for manufacturing purposes, such as ice cream, although the power is a discretionary one, and not mandatory.

Margiotti And Sanute Talk As Jury Ponders

Friendly Conversation Takes Place As Somerset Case Verdict Is Awaited

(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., March 16.—One of the most dramatic scenes in Pennsylvania's sensational "third degree" cases was enacted in the little Somerset county courtroom here today when Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti engaged in a friendly conversation before newspapermen with State Trooper Anthony Sanute, whom he had sought to send to the electric chair.

Margiotti, the special prosecutor, and Sanute spoke while a jury deliberated the trooper's fate.

Sanute held out his hands and said:

"Those hands are clean. There is no blood on them. I have a clean conscience. I don't fear the truth. But I do fear lies. Some of the testimony is false. Do you believe I lied?"

"Don't ask me to commit myself?" said Margiotti. "I'm telling you now as I told you before, that if you told all the facts it would help you and be very damaging to a lot of others."

"There is one thing I want to tell everyone," said Sanute. "That is: I'm proud of my record in the state police. I gave them everything I had, both barrels, you know that, you'll have to admit that."

"With a few exceptions your record is good," said the prosecutor.

"There is one thing I will never forget and that was when you said in your speech: 'Free this man and society will not be safe.'"

"I was arguing a principle," said Margiotti.

Margiotti, the state's chief law officer, was no longer the savage cross-examiner, the relentless prosecutor. He spoke softly and calmly to Sanute. Neither man appeared antagonistic.

With the next Christmas season many months away, a representative civic group met under the auspices of the Salvation Army last night to initiate plans for a gala community Christmas party for between 500 and 600 needy children of the city during the holidays.

Captain and Mrs. George Bevan of the Army called the meeting.

Fifteen representatives of different civic and business groups here heard Captain Bevan at City hall, explain his plans and joined wholeheartedly in support of the program. The party, of a community nature, will be somewhat new to the city. A permanent committee organization was effected.

Other civic groups will be asked shortly to send spokesmen to another conference at City hall on April 12.

The Salvation Army, an agency of the Community Chest, is sponsoring the entertainment project.

TO STAND PAT ON SOCIAL SECURITY PROGRAM

Drastic Changes Are Not Planned

Some Recommendations Are To Be Submitted To Congress However

HUGE RESERVE TO BE ACCUMULATED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—The Roosevelt administration plans to stand pat on major provisions of the far-flung social security program until it has stood the test of the courts, it was disclosed today.

While extensive changes in the measure providing for unemployment insurance aid and old-age pensions and insurance will be submitted to congress soon by the social security board, no drastic revision of the act is planned.

The administration has rejected proposals for a change in the payroll taxes under which a huge reserve fund eventually totalling the staggering sum of $50,000,000,000 will be created.

To Delay Consideration

Despite demands for a boost in old-age pension grants, extension of the law to embrace workers now exempt, the administration will seek postponement of consideration of these problems by congress during the present session.

"We will not recommend any substantive changes" said chairman A. J. Altemeyer of the board today. "We think our job is to shape the administration of the law as it now stands. We rather think that substantive changes had better wait until the law has been clarified in court decisions.

The supreme court now has before it appeals for review in which the question of constitutionality of the vital old-age annunity and unemployment insurance taxes is attacked.

Social security board officials point out that more than 1,250,000 persons are receiving pensions from states which are being matched up to $15 a month by the federal government. Aid also is being given to between 300,000 and 400,000 dependent children.

Chairman Doughton (D) of the House and Ways Means committee said that the committee expects to consider board recommendations for changes in the near future. He expressed doubt that material changes will be made.

Report Butler Strike Settled

BUTLER, Pa., March 16.—Work at the Spaide Shirt company, closed since January 27 when employes demanded union recognition and wage increases, was resumed Monday.

Picketing of the plant ceased with announcement of an agreement that ended a labor controversy lasting nearly seven weeks, during which operations were suspended. Officials had closed the factory in anticipation of a sit-down strike.

A company official made the following statement: "Following several conferences with Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, and with J. F. Potofsky, vice president of the union, a tentative agreement was reached with the Spaide Shirt company.

All details of working conditions are to be taken up later between the union and the company.

Satisfactory arrangements were made with the employes whereby the major part of the plant will be kept in Butler, it was stated.

Before closing the plant in January, the company removed a large number of machines from Butler, which were dispatched to the Cowan (Tenn.) branch. This equipment, it is announced, will be returned to Butler.

"I've been doing telephone work in this part of town for fifteen years. Most everybody knows I'm the telephone man. I hope they know they can trust me to be careful of their property.

"One day last Fall I was fixing a wire over a lady's flower garden. As I was leaving she said, 'Thanks for being so careful of my chrysanthemums.'

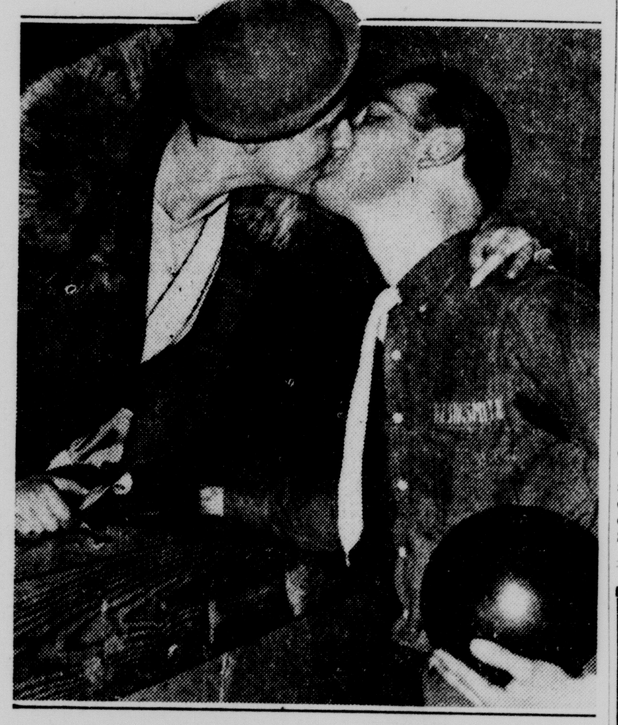

"'Don't mention it, ma'm,' I said, 'That's part of my job to be careful. Besides I got a garden at home myself, so I know how you feel about it.'"

PROBLEFS OF YOUTH DISCUSSED IN BOOK FOUND IN LIBRARY

One of the newer books at the free public library which is receiving wide distribution among the reading public of New Castle is the book, "The Making of a Man", by Dean of Windsor. "The thought contained in this book is of a nature to change a man's life" writes Beverly Nichols.

"Here is a wise man speaking—a man who is kindly yet shrewd, with his feet set firm on this earth, with his heart a little way above it." The book is an intimate and frank discussion of the practical problems of everyday life—especially as they affect young men and women who are coming to grips with the world.

Runyon Writes Many Stories

Second To Brisbane In Volume Of Output, McIntyre States

STARS SUFFER MIKE FRIGHT

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 16.—Next to the late Arthur Brisbane, Damon Runyon is regarded as the most prolific in output of newspaper writers. Unlike Brisbane, who dictated, Runyon pecks out his stuff in several fingered fury. But, like Brisbane, he can write wherever he happens to be.

O. O. McIntyre

Some of his finest descriptions have been turned out at the ringside of prize fights between rounds. Noise or speed do not bother. He used to bang out reams in his New York pent house with the room packed and buzzing with jabbering friends. He writes on trains, airplanes, ships.

Aside from his newspaper copy, he manages to author several short stories monthly for the magazines. And sandwiches in scenarios for the movies on the side. He has kept up this swift pace for more than 25 years and is going stronger than ever.

A glum looking fellow with shrewd penetrating eyes, he likes to be where the merry quips fly thickest. Especially the sporty cafes where he has picked up characterizations and vernacular. And where he will remain until dawn with coffee as his only stimulant.

Three ardent dancers away from the footlights are Gertrude Lawrence, Helen Hayes and Margaret Sullavan. Each is a gal who can really step from the floaty waltz to the shivery rhumba. And there is scarcely a night they are not out there dancing cheek-to-cheek for an hour or so after the curtain drops.

Alexander Woollcott is reported the most wittery of the radio broadcast guild when approaching the mike. His hands tremble visibly and at times his knees seem about to buckle. Before going on the air he sits bitting his nails, fidgeting and pointing up the phrases of his manuscript. On several occasions he has left the studio gasping that he will never go on the air again. Indeed he did take a year's sabbatical to calm his nerves.

Few are totally immune from mike fright. Even the veteran Floyd Gibbons confesses at times he is bathed in cold dew and all atremble as he sits down to his task. Major Bowes, too, has his moments of heart flutter and dry throat when he looks around helplessly as though he simply cannot go on. The calmest now of all is said to be Jack Benny although once he was the shakiest. And the most sensitive to unexpected irritations about the broadcasting room is Ed Wynn. He demands absolute concentration not only from his stooge, but the studio audience. Those caustic asides to McNamee are on the level.

One of New York's most widely traveled young men is the Van Dyked John Vandercook, son of the editor who discovered Roy W. Howard in Cincinnati and sent him to New York. He has visited nearly all the savage races in their jungles and has written several books about them. For a time he lived among the Fijis and was adopted by one of the tribes. When not wandering to some outer fringe of civilization he lives in the serene and ultra-peaceful area of Gramercy park.

Albert Payson Terhune in his days of roaming was adopted by a Bedouin tribe on the desert. He rode and bivouacked with them several months and learned their tribal language. The Martin Johnsons were members of several tribes in Borneo and Steffanson is an adopted son of an Eskimo family in the Arctic. Somerset Maughan is a member of a number of tribes in the South seas, including a race of pygmies who hail him as The Lightning God. Due to the fact he shows no fear of the fierce tropical storms, which they believe to be the wrath of heaven.

Nocturne: As blue shadows sift an indigo haze over the swan lake in Central Park there is a chatter among the birds that gradually diminuendoes to hushed whisper—then silence. A squirrel scampers up a snow-furred tree, stark, secene, exquisite, against the spread of sky. Stands a moment upright as though in reverence as the pale light dwindles, then vanishes into its cozy home. And a beholder recalls the poet's line: "And one by one the ice-blue evening stars appear. Quickly, without surprise."

Almost anyone of even a slightly romantic turn will find his head knocking the stars visiting Central Park at dusk. The breath-taking beauty of the skyline at the southernly end is to my notion the most inspiring spectacle on either side of the Atlantic. All against that backgrond of pinkish haze, the color of moonlit coral, that is flung up by the millions upon millions of Broadway lights. As Sime Silverman, of Variety, once sighed: "It makes even a mugg want to be a better boy."

Installation of a sanitary sewer from the Mercer county home to the Mercer sewage disposal plant, an eight-inch line extending 6,070 feet, has just been completed by WPA. A force of more than 40 men was employed.

Lewis M. Rowan, 58, of New Brighton, Pennsy engineer, was buried on Monday afternoon while a host of fellow employes looked sadly on. Rowan was fatally hurt the other day when struck by a locomotive while oiling his own engine at Legionville.

W. H. Shakley, of Bruin, miraculously escaped death or serious injury when his automobile was struck by a shifting train at Karns Crossing. He was shaken but not hurt. His car was demolished.

From Hollywood's producer-director Cecil B. DeMille comes the news that a happy marriage helps make the movie stars shine. "Most people never achieve stardom until they've had at least one good, serious siege of the grand passion," he says. "It doesn't hurt a career. It helps."

Jostling of the crowd attempting to enter a Sharon theater is believed to have frustrated a gunman's hold-up plans. Fay Berkowitz, cashier, saw a man in line close to the window holding his right hand in an overcoat pocket in a suspicious manner. When he moved to within one person of the ticket window he was jostled by those behind and a large revolver clattered to the sidewalk. Grabbing it he ran.

Evidence that the Shenango river in ages past flowed in a channel some 40 feet below the present river bed has been found by engineers at work on making safe the foundations of the new First National bank building, Sharon.

Thrown from a manure spreader when the horses started suddenly, Elmer Hill, 54, of West Sunbury, R. D. 1, received a fractured leg and is now in Butler hospital.

One of the foremost authorities on things stenographic in this part of the state, James E. Griffith of Beaver county court, may be able to clear the dilemma which has been confronting Butler county court since the death of Stenographer Edwin S. Riddle. Mr. Riddle used the Riddle shorthand system instead of Gregg and no one has been able to decipher his records. Mr. Griffith believes he can work the puzzle by comparing the notes with those transcribed by Mr. Riddle before his death.

Otto D. Doehler of Kansas City now knows why scratches and dents have been accumulating on the polished hub caps of his new automobile. Yesterday he caught the culprit in the act. It was a robin, battling its audacious reflection.

FOREIGN POLICY TREND OUTLINED TO ROTARY CLUB

Attorney Caldwell, In Address, Sees Return To Course Of Founders

A "marked clarification" of American foreign policy has been taking place since the close of the World War and the later refusal of the United States to enter the League of Nations, Attorney William J. Caldwell told the Rotary Club in an enlightening luncheon address on "Our American Diplomacy" on Monday.

Before the club at The Castleton, Mr. Caldwell interestingly summarized it.

"There has been, first of all, the liquidation of our imperialism," he said, "and then there has been the restoration of the Monroe Doctrine to its pristine quality by the pruning away of Theodore Roosevelt's corollary and the implication of further intervention by the United States in countries where the Monroe Doctrine prohibits intervention by non-American powers. Thirdly, there has been a sudden crystallization of policies toward neutrality, and, last of all, there has been a realization of the hopelessness of being at the same time a creditor nation and a high protectionist nation."

Back To Founding Fathers

"In conclusion," said Mr. Caldwell as he closed the discourse which recalled early diplomatic policy, "we see that our American foreign policy is settling back into the tradition of the founding fathers. It is a policy of good will, of peace, of defence of the continental homeland."

"It contemplates," he continued, "an adequate navy and the maintenance of indispensible outlying naval bases and communications. It is a policy of amalgamating our population into a homogenous people and of salvaging our foreign trade where possible. Such successes as we have had in diplomacy have been based upon a continental policy. It is a safe ground upon which to stand. Such a policy was instinctive with the founding fathers."

And Mr. Caldwell told the clubmen that the new diplomatic policy was never more aptly stated than in the words of Washington's farewell address in 1796, when he said: "The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible."

Guests at yesterday's meeting were Morton Dorothy, formerly of the Alliance, O., Rotary club and now associated with the New Castle Dry Goods store, and Howard Johnson.

KANE FOR RECREATION

Do you know that a development is underway at Kane, in McKean county, establishing an all-year-'round recreational area?

A half mile south of Kane, on Route 68, a 1000 acre tract is being developed that is aimed to be as big a drawing card in August as in February. For many years Kane was publicized in a small way as a winter sports center; in fact, excellent facilities were furnished to thousands of outdoor enthusiasts during the winter months in recent years. This year, however, additional skiing and toboggan runs were made available, but the "weatherman" failed to co-operate. The Kane region has had very little snow this winter. Efforts already are being concentrated to broaden winter sport facilities at Crystal hill for the 1938 season.

This area was very popular as a picnic center last summer, and an extensive improvement program is planned for the 1937 season. Kane will make a real effort to draw tourists every month in the year. Because of this region's altitude, it is ideal for both summer and winter vacationing.

Books On Supreme Court In Demand

Local Library Reports New Castle Folk Interested In Supreme Court Plan

A rally on the book circulation at the free public library reveals that there is a heavy demand for books dealing with the supreme court and the constitution.

Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, states that possibly this demand is caused by the interest in President Roosevelt's supreme court proposal, and the discussion which followed it.

Dr. Arthur E. Bostwick, librarian of the St. Louis public library, is also quoted as saying that there is a heavy demand for books on this subject. Many are reading about the founding and history of the court, as well as current material on the present issue. In addition to magazine articles the following books are in demand:

An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States, by C. A. Beard; John Marshall and the Constitution: A Chronicle of the Supreme Court, by E. S. Corwin; The Twilight of the Supreme Court; a history of our constitutional theory; also by E. S. Corwin; Power of Congress to Nullify Supreme Court decision, by D. J. Ettrude; The Supreme Court of the United States; its foundation, methods of achievements, by Charles Evans Hughes; History of the Supreme Court of the United States, by Gustavus Myers and Nine Old Men, by Pearson.

After stealing every day for 70 years, Tereza Vutschich has been arrested at Krizevi, Yugoslavia, for the first time. The woman, aged 82, confessed to the police that she picked the pockets of peasant women as a daily habit in the market square, and had saved $1,500. "I must be losing my touch," was her only remark when arrested.

Crop Loans Are Made Available

Applications For Emergency Farm Loans Being Received By Alderman Mantz

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1937 are now being received here by Alderman L. C. Mantz, P. E. Day, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the Farm Credit Administration announced today.

These loans will be made only to farmers who do not have available other sources of credit, including production credit associations. Regulations in respect to loans this season are much the same as in 1936 except that the limit this year is $400 per individual as compared to $200; and the interest rate is 4% as compared to 5½% last year.

Emergency crop and feed loans will not be made by the Farm Credit Administration to standard rehabilitation clients of the Resettlement Administration whose current needs are provided for by resettlement.

County League Heads To Meet Here Tonight

Expect Baseball Leaders From City And County To Convene

SOUTH SIDE TO HAVE BALL TEAM

Representatives of baseball teams in the city and county will convene at the Sport Goods store tonight where President Alex Samuels and other officials of the Lawrence County Baseball loop will discuss plans for the 1937 season. The county league has been in existence for about 13 years and the officials believe that the time is ripe for the baseball moguls to discuss plans for this year.

It is expected that Jim Martin of Bessemer, Nick Cangie of Mahoningtown, Bill Pepe of Hillsville, Alec Black of the Tin Mill and also representatives of the South Side board of trade team, Wampum, possibly Ellwood City and others will be present.

MAY LAND WITH DODGERS

Fred Shaffer, the husky right-hand flinger from Number 5 Mine who is on the Louisville Colonels pitching staff has an excellent chance of landing with the Brooklyn Dodgers. All he need do is to pitch winning ball and Burleigh Grimes will send for him according to reports he received here. He is a product of the Lawrence County Baseball league.

AFTER LEAGUE PRODUCTS

Not long ago Elmer Dailey, president of the Mid-Atlantic league was in the city and with him were officials of several other minor league clubs, one of whom said he would like to find some good prospects from the County league. In fact an official of the Butler club asked particularly concerning a local hurler and said they would like to have him on their roster when the season starts.

MAY SEEK NEW BERTH

It is not yet known if Hillsville will return to the County loop but it is presumed that city will be among those present should the County loop be reorganized this season. Last year Frank (Jewie) Coen was with the circuit. However, he indicated today that he may seek a team nearer home. Coen resides along the Harlansburg road and a trip to and from Hillsville measures about 34 miles. Coen likes baseball and if he is not with Hillsville he will be with some other club this season.

LONGEST IN BASEBALL

Bill Andrews, former sheriff, ex-prexy of the Lawrence loop and now vice president is the eldest in point of service in any league here abouts. After Andrews quit an infield berth he helped to keep baseball going here and is as much interested today as ever in the nation-pastime.

KELLAR AT HOT SPRINGS

Red Kellar is at an umpires school at Hot Springs. . . Umpires probably meet here soon to discuss their plans for the coming season. . .As usual city fathers can expect to give the baseball teams a break by helping to condition fields. They have been doing this for several years.

Americans Win Residual Prizes In Sweepstakes

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, March 16.—More fortunes streamed across the Atlantic ocean from Dublin's historic mansion house "Dream Castle" today on the draw for the 20th Irish sweepstakes continued on the stage of the round room.

Ten residual prizes, the "plums" of the entire draw and each worth $31,116, showered lady luck's bounty in various parts of the world, but the lion's share went to the United States.

Americans won seven residual prizes while two went to Canada and one to a lucky ticket holder in Europe.

The draw was based on the Grand National Steeplechase, English jumping classic, which will be run on Friday.

Grubb Is High Scorer For Titans

Andy Demo Is Second In Total Points For Floor Season

TITANS WIN 14 GAMES; LOSE 7

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 16—Ken Grubb, lanky Youngstown guard of the Westminster Titans, took hig-scoring honors for his team this season by garnering 72 field goals and 54 fouls for a total of 198 points. He was closely trailed by Andy Demo, Johnstown forward, who scored 193 points on 77 goals from the floor and 39 free throws.

Trailing in third place was the veteran guard, John Krivosh, Sharon, who came through with 38 field goals and 29 free throws for 105 points. Other point-getters included Gilliland, New Wilmington, with 84 points; Miller, freshman guard, with 81; and Backus, Titan center, who entered the squad in the second semester, 39 points.

Most of Grubb's counters came under the basket through the arms of opposition guards; while Demo's shots were spinning one-handed tosses, usually in front of the basket. Miller and Krivosh, using the same style of shooting, got their points on dribbling under the basket and on long tosses at the rim of the defense. Backus's shots were from the deep side usually, utilizing his height to shoot over the heads of the opposition.

The Titans ended the season with a count of 14 won and 7 lost, an excellent record, but not quite up to the Titan average, which for eleven years has been 16 wins to 3 losses. In the past eleven years, Westminster teams have won 182 games and lost 42.

Westminster scored 686 points this season to 587 for the opposition, to average 35 points per game while their opponents were getting 29, a six-point margin per game.

The Christians won the first half and the Epworths the second half.

The first game Wednesday night will have the St. Pauls and First Presbyterians tangling in a game that may mean a deadlock in the A division. The Presbyterians have a chance to tie the league dealing St. Paul's with a victory. This looks like a big assignment for the North Jefferson streeters.

O'Neil Confident Indians Will Be In Pennant Race

"Depends On Young Bob Feller" Says Veteran Manager Of Cleveland Team

Frankie Pytlak Is Another Question Mark In Indians Lineup, Good Outfield

By MALCOLM YATES
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—"If little Frankie Pytlak can catch one hundred games, and if Young Bob Feller can pick up where he left off last year we'll go places," Steve O'Neill, manager of the Cleveland Indians, declared here Monday.

"We're going to be in the thick of the pennant chase all the way," O'Neill went on. "The Yankees will be tough. And so will a couple of other clubs, including the Indians.

"Our pitching will be improved. And our outfield will powder the ball as hard as in '36, and don't forget that though we finished fifth as September ended, we were just two and one-half games out of second place."

Depends On Feller

O'Neill admitted that Cleveland's destiny rests on the broad shoulders of 18-year-old Bob Feller, the Iowa farm boy who quit doing chores last summer to stand the league's best hitters on their heads and establish a new league strikeout record.

"Bob is on the spot," Steve mused. "He's only eighteen, after all, and we can't expect too much of him this season, but we're confident he has the courage and the speed and the ability to develop into one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game.

"Feller should be good for ten or fifteen victories. And if he can hang up twenty in his first full campaign, unless these old eyes deceive me I can see a pennant flying over the clubhouse for the first time since 1919."

Commenting on the winter trade in which the astute Rogers Hornsby according to some observers bested the Indians, O'Neill said:

"The acquistion of Solters, Andrews and Lary will prove as beneficial to us as the change of uniforms by Knickerbocker, Vosmik and Hildebrand will be to the St. Louis Browns."

BASEBALL HAS LOST ITS SHINE"

—TY COBB

Claims Coaches In Schools Lack Knowledge Of Game

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb thinks present-day baseball is odoriferous, to put it kindly.

Run to cover on his estate at nearby Atherton the great Ty, who retired abruptly and completely in 1928, admitted a fatherly interest in the sport.

"Yes, there's something wrong," he declared dolefully. "The games all right, but somehow a lot of the shine has been taken off it.

"The reason is there are so many other sports competing for interest. In the old days there were few other sports and baseball really was the national game.

"Now there's football, swimming, track, golf and scores of others to divide the interest of both fans and athletes.

"Coaches in the schools nowadays don't know enough about the fine points of baseball to interest the youngsters.

"But, just the same, it still packs them in."

Ty himself seems to be more interested in golf. Still in perfect trim and only showing about two-thirds of his 50 years, the old base-slider swats around 18 holes in the low 80's.

Incidentally, of Squire Cobb's five children—three of whom still live with him—nary a one shows the slightest interest in baseball.

Roark To Leave For W. & J. Post At End Of Month

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 16—Coach George Roark, Westminster Titan coach, recently appointed to the football mentorship at Washington and Jefferson, has been released from his contract at the Titan institution, and will leave April 1 to take up his new duties at the President camp.

Coach George Roark

With the completion of the basketball season, Coach Roark will spend the next two weeks making final arrangements for the 1937 football and basketball schedules, and this springs golf and tennis matches. At W. and J. he will hold a six weeks' spring training camp, beginning sometime in April.

As head football coach, Roark will have charge of the backfield, with W. F. "Pete" Henry functioning in his speciality, the line.

President R. F. Galbreath of Westminster college hopes to appoint a new all sports coach for the Titans sometime in April.

Veterans Make Them Like It

Mike Debridget And Jimmy Smith, Veteran Tenpin Stars Are Tourney Sensations

By GLEN R. BIRCHARD
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Irony, bitter as it may be, crept into American Bowling Congress tournament circles today with the discovery that Mike Debridget, New York veteran who yesterday smashed his way into first place in the doubles event by teaming with another vet, Jimmy Smith, for a 1307, and who rode far into the all events lead with a 1927, was listed among the "not wanteds" on two of New York City's star quintets.

The outfit of Joe Fulcaro could not see Mike, who was figured to be on his last bowling legs much as Babe Ruth was on his last baseball legs three seasons ago. The same situation endured as far as the Mort Lindsey bowling combination was concerned.

Shunted Along.

So Mike was shunted to the No. 2 Brunswick team. It was not a boster outfit but it was rated as a quintet of ordinary ability. It showed this by getting a 2602. Both Mike and Jimmy rolled better than this, as Mike had a 580 series and Jimmy 600.

Then came the rub. Debridget hit 714 in the two-men and wound up with 633 in the singles. The irony appears not only in what he might have given a team in pins but it is a cardinal rule with all the so-called sharpshooter outfits that all the winnings in each event are pooled and evenly divided. As it is now, Mike can enjoy the profits of his winnings in two-men, singles and all events, without having to divvy.

Some Lines From Yesteryear

It is usual for boys who have engaged in pugilism to "do weight", that is through diet and exercise weigh a certain poundage, or the weight at which they battle which brings to mind that there was a time when James Steiner, now a police sergeant, was a well-built lad of about 133 pounds. He had battled up and down the New England coast while in the Merchant marine and had a fairly good run of success. He later returned to this city and was matched to fight husky Tommy Phillips, nephew of Patsy Brannigan in the Coliseum. Several days before the fight he was taken ill with the flu but managed to keep from going to bed. Despite warnings he crawled through the ropes and battled Phillips who proved too much for the weakened Steiner and the fight was stopped after several rounds.

Indoor Boxing Shows In New York City Have Grossed $1,000,000 This Winter

FIGHT GAME IS NOW ON UPGRADE

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 16—Along Bash Boulevard today we find.... a flock of fights promoters and matchmakers....cutting up happy touches....over the biggest indoor season the game has ever had....

In the season now drawing to a close....Madison Square Garden, the Hippodrome and seven smaller clubs....had a combined gross of more than $1,000,000.... which was Father Knickerbocker's winter bill for cauliflowers....

The Garden alone grossed $417,000 for 13 fights....and has three more indoor shots scheduled....The Hippodrome went over $150,000 for 18 fights....St. Nick's arena did better than $100,000 for 25 bouts.... the Coliseum played to $75,000 for the same number....and the other clubs ran to near-capacity figures..

And all of them made money.... which leads Joe McKenna, Jimmy Johnston, Tom McCardle, Charley Johnston and Mike Jacobs to tab themselves as modern Tex Rickards.

Making Money

Biggest indoor shot was the Joe Louis-Bob Pastor waltz....which drew $112,000. Canzoneri and Ambers packed them in to the tune of $73,000....Canzaneri and McLarnin played before $54,000....Venturi and Montanez lured $31,000 through the turnstiles....and Pastor and Impellittiere drew the smallest garden gate—$7,000....

Although the middleweight title was at stake....Steele and Risko put only $18,000 in the house....and the bantamweight title tilt between Escobar and Quintana drew only $12,000....

Indoor Shows

Fans apparently aren't as interested in seeing a title change hands as they are in seeing a real battle.... witness, for instance, the McLarnin-Ambers non-title fight which produced $32,000.....

Business has been so good, in fact, th Garden is planning to run indoor shows through the summer.... but Mike Jacobs is moving out of the Hippodrome and into the ball parks....starting late in May.. with Apostoli and Steele....or Ross and Montanez....either of which should gross more than $100,000....

These figures prove the fight game isn't as dead as many would have you believe....

To Renew Lease

Mike Jacobs is going to renew his Hippodrome lease....says he was induced to do so when he learned he had netted $35,000 profits on his fights....and $15,000 more on wrestling....since last October.....

Incidentally, in those few months the Hipp has been the scene of everything from a church meeting to communist gatherings, grand opera and roller skate derbies....and Thursday the circus is moving in for a month's stay....

Mike says he's going to park the lions, tigers and other wild animals in the basement....and thinks that after about a week the wrestling fans will feel right at home.... Selah.....

Conn's Defeat St. Pat Cagers

Conn's Challenge Winners Of Keystone-Polish Falcon Series

Continuing their impressive playing, Conn's basketball team registered another victory, this time disposing of the St. Patrick cagers, in a game played in Youngstown. The final score was 23-13.

The locals rolled up a 12-5 lead during the first half. Conn's were never in danger of being overcome. Chink Dutkin and Pop Adams were outstanding for the winners while Scott and Crawford were the best bets for the Ohioans. Last Thursday, Conn's dumped the St. Nicholas quintet, 39-20.

Manager Paul Eagan today challenges the winners of the Polish Falcon-Keystone series. The Conn's are desirous of playing the winning quintet for the city and county title. Should this become a reality, fans would be in for a real basketball treat.

The lineup:

Coon Hunters To Meet On Saturday

Will Draft Protest Against Law Which Would Hinder Coon Dog Training

Coon hunters from Lawrence county and surrounding territory will meet in the Y. M. C. A. here Saturday evening at 8 o'clock to consider methods of protesting a current bill before the legislature.

According to the terms of this measure, the training of young coon hounds at night would be prohibited. This would practically mean that there could be no further training of hounds, which would result in the elimination of trained dogs in a short period of time.

Andy Tommalello Sets New Record

Pennsy Shops Tenpin Star Blasts Maples For 213, 230 And 226

Andy Tommalello of the Pennsy Shops tenpin team of the City League, set what is believed a 1937 record and probably equals any tenpin three-game series ever rolled in league play here in New Castle.

Tommalello pounded the maples last night in the City League at the Castle alleys for a 669 series, which means that he rolled 213, 230, and 226. In the third game he rolled six straight strikes before getting a bad split. The Pennsy shops topped the Pennsy-Castle team two out of three games, but the vanquished team set up a 924 game which is just short of the record for the league this year.

Will Make Plans For Marathon Race

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 16.—William T. Crawford, commodore of the Middle Atlantic Outboard association, held a meeting of his board of trustees on March 10 to discuss preliminary plans for the 1937 Albany to New York marathon down the Hudson river.

The race, which will be the 10th annual event staged by the Middle Atlantic group, has been scheduled for Sunday, May 9, and will again be sponsored by William Randolph Hearst.

One of the chief concerns of the race group this year is a suitable location for the finish in New York City.

Chicago Fight Is In Discard For Time Being

Braddock May Go To Germany To Meet Schmeling, Louis Slated To Go To London

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 16.—It's all so bewildering to one who has led a very sheltered life but it seems now, according to the respective statements today of Mike Jacobs and Joe Gould, that the heavyweight horizon is definitely moving eastward to Europe instead of westward to Chicago, as called for in the original script. Mike confirmed the announcement this morning of the British promoter, General A. C. Crichley, that Joe Louis was to box in London on July 30 next. Gould did even better.

Raised $50,000

He stated for the benefit—I hope—of the writer that he had haggled the German government bid up to $350,000, flat, as James J. Braddock's guarantee for a title match with Max Schmeling in Berlin and that, with $50,000 more, they won't be able to keep him away with a quarantine. He didn't realize that the writer already knew where the extra $100,000, if any, was to come from.

It represents an attempt by the Schmeling people to sell Braddock's radio and picture rights for him in the proposed fight for that amount—a sale that will be consummated shortly, or not at all. And, meantime, what of Braddock's fight with Louis in Chicago on June 22?

"If I get $400,000 and they post it outside Germany, I'll forget about Chicago," says Mr. Gould, the gentleman with the detachable memory. "That's more money than I'll see elsewhere and, besides, by paying Madison Square Garden $50,000 for the contract, the Germans will stall off all those lawsuits."

COUNTY SPORTSMEN'S BOARD MEETS TONIGHT

M. C. A. tonight at 8. Secretary John P. Boyles, reports.

Arnold "Fritz" Fraser, new president of the association, will preside.

Baer And Farr Bout Arranged

Maxie Baer Will Meet Tommy Farr On April 15th at Harringay, England

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 16.—Fistic warfare between Max Baer, California's would-be come-back man, and Tommy Farr of Wales was definitely in prospect today after Farr vanquished Ben Foord, South Africa, in a 15-round bout at the Harringay arena.

Farr, in disposing of Foord, retained the British heavyweight title. Farr won by a decision. He is scheduled to meet Baer April 15 at Harringay.

Baer, who saw the Farr-Foord fight, soberly commented:

"I didn't see anything to send me to town in the bout from start to finish. Farr is a strong boy and he's got what it needs. I am not kidding myself. He will fight the whole way. But I am not exactly worrying.

"I am staying here for six months and hope to have several fights. I'd like to fight for the world championship here, but if I can't arrange that I plan to meet the winner of the Braddock-Louis fight in the United States in September.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Are you interested in the real old-fashioned Blood 'n Thunder . . . the kind that grandad used to like . . . the kind that is all but forgotten . . . well, you have one last chance to see one of these spectacular shows . . . it will happen at Grove City college . . . an old Blood and Thunder town . . . the Theta Alpha Phi, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, is the instigator . . . it will be just as you picture it . . . barkers will walk the aisles selling candy, peanuts, gum and what have you, before and during the show.

* * *

One of our old friends has charge of the specialty effects . . . none other than David Paul McBride . . . better known in Grove City as "Quincy's boy" . . . if you have nothing to do Thursday or Friday nights you might drive up to the college and give yourself a treat . . . the little woman will like it and so will you.

* * *

To our friend who uses Pennsylvania Power Company stationery . . . your suggestion came a little late . . . we received it in the four o'clock mail . . . this young fellow wants to know why ashes were not put on E. Washington street Sunday night, between Florence Ave. and Oak Street . . . he also wants to know if the Fathers, Forefathers, Step-fathers, Grandfathers or Godfathers of the city could do anything about it . . . we turn the subject over to the street department . . . we praise you, S. D., at this time on taking care of the big hills in the bad weather . . . you can't please everyone.

This is nice weather to go around on crutches . . . sometimes we feel sorry for the fellow on crutches and sometimes it amuses us . . . the latter comes out first this time, followed closely by the former . . . ### Gains In Some Of Leading Stocks Run To Two And More Points

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 16.—The stock market recovered briskly today under the lead of steels and rails with gains running to 2 points.

The list rallied as buying was touched off in the steels and carriers. Alcohols, liquors, rubbers, oils and several blue-chips joined in the recovery movement, with small buy orders lifting values easily.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem gained 2 points each, as others in the steel department chalked up advance running to a point.

In rails, Illinois Central jumped close to 2 points into new high ground, while such pivotals as Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, and Southern Pacific climbed a point and more.

Although the motor strike situation continued ina deadlock, Chrysler spurted better than a point and General Motors almost as much. Low-priced automobile shares improved fractionally.

Gains of 2 points were registered by U. S. Gypsum. Deere in farm implements and Western Union. Low-priced stocks were featured by another move into new high territory by Coty which crossed 10 for a large fractional gain. National Distillers was at a new top in liquors. Goodyear and Godrich each gained a point in rubbers.

Bonds moved irregularly higher, although governments eased. Grains were little changed but coton improved moderately.

Rev. Fr. Wilkey Speaks To Legion On Monday Night

World War Veterans Can Acquire Special Citizenship Papers

ELLWOOD CITY, March 16.—J. Wilbur Randolph post of the American Legion, Ellwood City, held its regular Monday night meeting in its rooms on Sixth street with a fine turnout present.

It was announced that the Beaver county committee will meet on Friday night at Rochester. Plans were discussed for the reorganization of the drum and bugle corps of the Legion. The membership committee reported that the post has 195 members now.

Information was given last night on the naturalization of veterans. Veterans of the World War who have served in the United States service and are not naturalized can become so through a shortened procedure for their benefit. An act of Congress approved June 24, 1935, provides for a shortened form of naturalization for veterans who desire to become citizens of the United States. The first citizenship papers are not required. There is no filing fee. This act applies not only to veterans of the United States forces in the World War, but to veterans who fought in armies of the various countries. The benefits of this law expire on May 25, 1937. Anyone desiring additional information is requested to get in touch with Walter Simpson or Ralph Little. The next meeting of the local post will be held on April 5.

The feature of the meeting last night was an inspiring talk by the Rev. Fr. R. D. A. Wilkey, whose subject was "Responsibilities". His definition of responsibility was: a clear-cut realization of those duties and obligations to God, one's self and to society. Much of the trouble now, he said, is due to the fact that we forget the responsibilities to one another and in the end, to God. This causes unrest, dissatisfaction and selfishness. He pointed out that the temple of the soul is our body. The speaker closed by stressing of our responsibility to mankind in general.

Scottish soldiers formed part of the army of Sweden as early as the year 1563, and ever since Scottish names have become curiously disguised in the families they have founded there. Robsahm stands for Robson or Robinson; Bothwell becomes Bossveld Sinckler for Sinclair; Douglas becomes Duglitz; and Findlay is rendered Finlaij.

Deader Ball May Help To Revive Baseball Crowds

Connie Mack Thinks That Smarter Hitting And Base Running Will Feature

International News Service Staff

MEXICO CITY, March 16.—Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, today expressed the belief that a deader ball will be in use in the major leagues next season and that, as a result, smart hitting and base running will come into their own again.

"Baseball moves in cycles," the 71-year-old dean of managers said. "Along came Babe Ruth and we had a cycle of sluggers—everybody trying to hit home runs.

"Willie Keeler was the most scientific batter that ever lived and we are going to have a Willie Keeler cycle. There's room for tremendous improvement in batting.

"The slower ball also will make for better base-running. I'm picking recruits that know how to run, and we are coaching them."

Resume Traffic At Rail Slide

Rail traffic over the regular route of the Pennsylvania railroad through the "Hump" yards, a short distance below Willow Grove, will be resumed before the end of this week, according to C. E. Brinser.

Brinser states that the last carloads of earth are now being removed from the territory in which it fell and blocked two of the main Pennsy tracks several weeks ago. Since the slide, trains which would normally pass over these blocked tracks were routed over a spur line, around the slide.

All movements of the hill has now stopped, but in order to prevent another slide in the vicinity, railroad officials have had the hill cut away for a distance of 30 feet back from the rails. In doing this, close to 30,000 cubic yards of earth was removed and hauled to a place near Wampum where it was dumped. It required 1136 carloads to remove this amount on earth.
